60 ARE NAMED BY PRESIDENT IN RELIEF UNIT

Committee Will Counsel Gifford on Program for Unemployed.

SELECTION IS VARIED; ALL CLASSES ON LIST

Pinchot's Plea for U. S. Help by Special Session Is Answered by Reed.

BY EDWARD T. FOLLIARD.

President Hoover yesterday asked 60 men and women, all of them nationally-known, to serve on an advisory committee to the Unemployment Relief Organization that will be headed by Walter S. Gifford.

In the list of 60 are Republicans and Democrats, capitalists and labor leaders, and men of varying religious creeds.

Among them, for example, is Newton D. Baker, Secretary of War in the Wilson administration, and now regarded as a strong contender for the Democratic nomination for President. Bernard M. Baruch, New York financier, and an outstanding Democrat, is another of those asked to lend a hand in combating distress among the unemployed this winter.

Big Business Represented.

Big business is represented in the list of 60 by such men as Pierre du Pont, of Wilmington, Del; Julius Rosenwald, of Chicago, the head of Sears, Roebuck Co.; Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, and Silas Strawn, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Labor is represented in the list by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor; Matthew Woll, vice president of that organization, and E. Johnson, of the Brotherhood of Railway Engineers.

Among the 60 are such fraternal and religious leaders as Martin H. Carmody, supreme knight of the Knights of Columbus; the Rev. John R. Mott, president of the Young Men's Christian Association, and Rabbi A. H. Silver, of Cleveland, Ohio.

In making public the list, the White House announced that other individuals in addition to the 60 would be asked to serve on the advisory committee. It is probable that this committee will assemble in Washington in the near future and discuss ways and means of relieving distress this winter.

Gifford Invited to Rapidan.

Mr. Gifford, 46-year-old president of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., whose appointment to direct the President's unemployment relief organization was announced Wednesday, has accepted an invitation to spend the week-end with the President at the Rapidan camp and talk over plans for aiding the unemployed.

Mr. Gifford, it is understood, already has supplied the President with the draft of a relief plan.

The reaction to the demand of Gov. Pinchot of Pennsylvania that President Hoover call a special session of Congress to work out a relief plan was anything but favorable to the Pennsylvania executive. Several governors sent word to Washington that they were unalterably opposed to Federal relief; that their Commonwealths were well able to take care of their own sufferers, and that they were opposed to having their citizens taxed by the Federal Government to help the "pauper State" of Pennsylvania.

Reed Angered at Slur.

Incensed by what he regarded as a reflection on his State, Senator David A. Reed, of Pennsylvania, issued a statement sharply criticizing Gov. Pinchot.

"The governors of the several States and the local authorities under them," Senator Reed said, "should not and must not evade their responsibilities.

"Why should they be sending appeals to a harassed President to do for them what they ought to be doing for themselves?

Added Border Bar Asked by Mexican

Retaliatory Move Is Urged as Texans Favor Lifting All Bans.

Brownsville, Tex., Aug. 20 (A.P.).—The Mayor of Matamoros, Mexico, today asked the Mexican government to close all international bridges in the State of Tamaulipas between the hours of 8 a. m. and noon, and 1 and 6 p. m.

His action was interpreted as a retaliatory measure against the United States Treasury Department's order closing the American ends of eight international bridges between 9 p. m. and 7 a. m. daily. The Matamoros business men said early closing had demoralized business.

Laredo, Tex., Aug. 20 (A.P.).—A group of Laredo business men telegraphed President Hoover today asking that the international bridges along the lower Rio Grande be opened 24 hours daily. Their action resulted from failure to get similar requests granted by the Treasury Department. The movement was backed by Rene B. Creager, State Republican chairman.

Nation-Wide Drive Called By Gifford

New York, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Walter S. Gifford, newly appointed director of President Hoover's unemployment cooperative organization, tonight suggested a Nation-wide campaign for relief funds for distribution through local agencies.

He asked that where local voluntary organizations for relief of unemployed had not already been set up they be organized at once and said he would call national representatives of various organizations to meet with him soon to advance methods for supporting such local groups.

"The foundation of the relief of

LINDBERGHS TOWED TO SAFER POSITION

Second "Lift" Given Fliers by Ship; Tokyo Repair Crew Is Sent For.

Nemuro, Japan (Friday), Aug. 21 (A.P.).—A department of communications radio from the government steamer Shimushiru Maru today said the vessel had started to tow the Lindbergh monoplane to Muroton Bay, 15 miles southwest of Ketoi Island, off the shores of which Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh have been held since late Wednesday by unfavorable weather and motor trouble.

The department of communications announced that at Col. Lindbergh's request Japanese mechanics were to start from Tokyo tonight to aid in repairs to the big monoplane at Muroton Bay.

Muroton Bay is a sheltered harbor of Shimushiru Island, above which the Lindberghs first encountered the fog bank which forced them to turn back and finally caused them to descend off Ketoi Island.

The steamer Shimushiru Maru Thursday towed the Lindbergh plane to the north side of Ketoi Island when a change of wind made the plane's position unsafe on the south side of the small island.

The captain of the vessel said the towing was difficult because of continued breaking of the tow line. The plane might have made the circuit of the island under its own power but for the motor trouble.

Col. Lindbergh worked on the motor until late Thursday night, but apparently failed to repair the trouble.

It was learned today that the Shumushiru Maru attempted to tow the plane to Muroton on Thursday, but abandoned this in favor of moving it to the north side of the island when the tow line broke repeatedly.

The newspaper Asahi said the big monoplane was in danger of being tossed upon the rocky shores of Ketoi Island when the tow line parted, during the change in position.

Asahi quoted Col. Lindbergh as saying that Wednesday night, which he and his wife spent in their plane off the uninhabited shores of Ketoi, was "the most uneasy I have ever experienced."

It appeared that the trouble with the carburetor was due to cold and dampness, the gasoline failing to vaporize.

When he descended Wednesday off Ketoi, Col. Lindbergh specifically stated the landing was due to fog, not engine trouble, which apparently developed since then, owing to excessive moisture in the atmosphere.

Massachusetts Prison Ready to Quell Riot

Boston, Aug. 20 (U.P.).—Fearful of violent outbreaks by inmates of Charlestown State Prison, following two days of noisy demonstration, authorities tonight were preparing to cope with "any situation that may arise."

SPAIN FORBIDS CHURCH SALES OF PROPERTIES

EXILED LEADER SENDS LETTER FROM FRANCE

Socialists Believed Anxious for Complete Rupture With Vatican.

Madrid, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—The controversy between the government and the church was brought to a new crisis in Spain today when the government published a decree prohibiting the sale of church property, and Cardinal Primate Pedro Segura y Saenz, from exile, issued a pastoral letter to Catholics calling on them to unite in defense of the church's legitimate interests.

The government's decree, which was proposed shortly after the burning of religious houses last May, was believed to have been decided upon at a cabinet meeting last Tuesday.

It was understood on good authority that several Socialist ministers had counseled an immediate rupture with the Vatican, but today's decree did not go that far.

Primate Sends Answer.

The pastoral letter of the cardinal primate, which was issued shortly after the announcement of the decree, was promulgated from Belloc, France, where he has been living since he was ordered out of Spain. The letter was directed to "the Spanish clergy and the faithful."

"Movables, immovables, royal concession and benefits of Catholic Church orders, institutes and establishments can not be sold, transferred or alienated," the decree states.

It prohibits notaries from authorizing or registering any legal instrument pertaining to sales of church property. Commercial agents are prohibited from effecting sales transactions and Spanish or foreign authorities from authorizing the withdrawal of church stocks or funds.

Although it places an embargo on all church deposits and properties, the decree, effective tomorrow, contains a clause allowing clerics the privilege of carrying on small accounts to conduct daily business.

Government Wins Victory.

The government won an important battle in the National Assembly tonight when President Alcala Zamora obtained a modification of the proposal of the parliamentary committee to convert the Assembly into a special tribunal to try all the former leaders of the monarchial regime on charges of irregularities.

The committee accepted the president's proposal that those charged with irregularities be prosecuted in the ordinary courts and only former King Alfonso be brought before the Assembly.

It is generally believed here that it will be difficult, if not impossible, to bring either the former king or the other leaders to Spain for trial.

Madrid, Aug. 20 (U.P.).—The Catholic Church refuses to recognize the validity of recent decrees of the Spanish Government affecting the status of religious orders, a pastoral letter issued tonight by the deported Primate Cardinal Segura, said.

Brutalized Paganism Seen.

"We have witnessed in our country the proof that it is returning to brutalized paganism with giant strides" the letter said. It enumerated the rights demanded by the church, including "those granted by Jesus Christ, such as buying, possessing, keeping and administering all classes of temporal property."

The cardinal concluded with the significant statement that the church would defend its rights.

"In defense of its rights the church does not possess armies nor airplanes, but it has two weapons," the letter said. "The first lies in the hands of the Divine founder. The second is in canonical punishments."

The cardinal added that "history confirms the efficacy of excommunication," considered an indirect threat to excommunicate the republican leaders of Spain who have sought to end the influence exerted by the church under the monarchy.

United States Nears Owning Half of World's Total Gold

(Associated Press.)

The United States crept nearer to the point of owning half of the entire supply of gold in the world in the week ending August 19. The gold stock of the Federal Reserve System then amounted to $4,983,000,000, a new high record.

The entire gold supply of the world at the end of June, as held by 45 countries, was estimated by the Federal Reserve Board to total $11,262,000,000. The United States held more than twice as much as any other country, France being second with a total of $2,290,000,000 at the end of July.

England, at the end of June, held a total of $643,000,000; Germany had $325,000,000; Belgium, $199,000,000; Italy, $282,000,000; the Netherlands, $236,000,000; Hungary, $20,000,000; Spain, $468,000,000; Sweden, $64,000,000; Switzerland, $162,000,000, and Soviet Russia, $267,000,000. Ten countries of South America had $451,000,000 in gold at the end of June, Argentina leading the way with $350,000,000.

Forest Fires in Idaho Raze Historic Towns

Residents Flee Raging Inferno as Hundreds of Men Fight Flames Which Continue Unchecked; Several Persons Are Feared Trapped.

Boise, Idaho, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Northwestern forest fires, estimated to have ravaged a territory as large as the State of Delaware, late today razed the historic mining town of Quartzburg, Idaho, and continued unchecked toward Placerville, three miles away.

A telephoned report from Placerville said it was feared several firefighters were trapped while engaged in a vain attempt to save the town once famed as the center of a formerly populous gold mining district. Forty families evacuated before the flames.

More than 300 men still fought against the onrushing flames, digging trenches and starting backfires, in the hope of halting the fires before more damage occurred.

Forest service officials estimated that 1,500,000 acres have been blackened in Idaho, Washington and Montana since the fires began. August 10 compilations showed 944 separate blazes had been reported.

Quartzburg, abandoned yesterday when the fire came within a few hundred yards of the town, was swept away when the blaze, fanned by a freshly rising wind, jumped a road which halted it last night.

Placerville was evacuated late today by many of its residents, who joined the homeless from Quartzburg in the Placerville ball park, outside the town, or on the open bottom lands of Granite Creek nearby.

The Placerville telephone operator said the fire was within a mile of the town and going wild.

William Langrois, assistant United States District Attorney, who was in Placerville this afternoon, said the fire around Quartzburg was a "furnace." He said he was unable to learn whether any men had been trapped in the flames, but said it traveled very fast when it broke out of control.

$1 OIL IS PREDICTED TODAY IN OKLAHOMA

Oklahoma City, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—A prediction that dollar oil may be flowing from some of the derricked giants in the Oklahoma City field before many hours came today as result of the Oklahoma-Texas program of higher prices, or no crude from flush areas.

While the pine-treed stretches of the vast east Texas producing area slept under surveillance of National Guardsmen, Cicero I. Murray, cousin of the Oklahoma Governor, who led the way to a military curb of wells, forecast a $1 per barrel price posting here, perhaps tomorrow. He predicted opening of wells to those buyers offering $1 a barrel and taking petroleum ratably from wells in the same producing horizon.

After a conference with oil men last night, Gov. W. H. Murray said four out of five were willing to pay the $1 scale he would exact in return for opening wells and that if Oklahoma City field companies producing from the Wilcox sand would get together, agree to prorate and pay the price "I believe a plan can be worked out in a few days so they can run day and night." There would be no compromise on the price, he said.

Oil-minded Southwesterners, from major purchasers on down, have expressed the belief that a crude oil price increase is assured if the Texas and Oklahoma shutdowns remain in force.

The floodgates of East Texas were tightly closed today as cavalrymen, reinforced by airplanes, conducted a surveillance to see that no cheap crude dribbles to market. Oklahoma's martial shutdown was in its third week with only "stripper" wells and those making water exempt.

The upward movement of the wholesale gasoline market in Oklahoma, as refiners felt the pinch of diminishing crude supplies, led to a belief in many circles that motor cars might soon be propelled by higher priced fuel.

A report by J. Edward Jones, oil representative of Gov. Harry H. Woodring, of Kansas, asking the executive to request President Hoover to place an embargo on foreign oil was made public.

Jury Debates Fate Of Lawyer Slayer

7 Women and 5 Men Seek to Arrive at Verdict in David Clark Case.

Los Angeles, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—A jury of seven women and five men tonight deliberated the fate of David H. Clark, former deputy district attorney, accused of slaying Herbert Spencer, former newspaperman, and Charles Crawford, politician.

The jury accepted the case at 3:13 p. m. today, deliberated until the dinner hour, and then returned to their room after the meal. Clark is on trial for the murder of Spencer. Just before the case went to the jury, Joseph Ford, special prosecutor, branded Clark's story of self-defense as untrue and pleaded for a conviction.

Physicians to Confer On Pola Negri Operation

Santa Monica, Calif., Aug. 20 (A.P.).—A decision as to whether Pola Negri, Polish screen beauty, will undergo an operation for appendicitis will be reached tomorrow at a conference of physicians, it was announced today from the hospital, where the actress was taken after being suddenly stricken early yesterday.

Miss Negri returned to this country in April under contract to make talking pictures at the Pathe studios. Just before she left Europe she was divorced from Prince Serge M'Divani, who since has married Mary McCormic, grand opera singer.

GEN. BUTLER APPLIES FOR RETIRED STATUS

Commander of Marines, 33 Years in Service, Would Quit; May Seek Office.

Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler's application for retirement from the Marine Corps after more than 33 years' service was dispatched to the Navy Department yesterday. Gen. Butler requested to be relieved from duty as commanding general of the Marine Barracks at Quantico, Va., on September 30 and be placed on the retired list as of October 1.

In the application he signified that he would go to Newtown Square, Pa., a suburb of Philadelphia, to live in the home which he has purchased. The colorful officer was safety director of the Pennsylvania metropolis several years ago.

There have been persistent reports that the 50-year-old general aspires to the senatorship now held by James J. Davis and intends to run in next spring's Republican primaries. His purchase of a home in Newtown Square lends added significance.

Thomas S. Butler, the commandant's father, served in Congress as representative from the Sixth Pennsylvania District from 1897 to 1903 and from the Seventh District from 1903 to 1927.

Gen. Butler, who is certain to keep himself in the public eye through the speaking platform, has not discussed rumors of his future in politics since last spring, when he admitted he would like to be a senator.

Cramer Trailers Leave Radio Area

Cochrane, Ontario, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Edwin H. Preston and Robert H. Collignon, Detroit aviators, attempting to survey a proposed air mail route to Denmark, left here at 3:19 p. m., Eastern standard time, today for Rupert House, Quebec. The flight was about 200 miles.

Radio officials said it was unlikely the plane's signals could be picked up, since its transmitter is not powerful. Thus the movements of the fliers may not be known until tomorrow or the next day, when their course takes them closer to Hudson Straits. In the lonely area around James Bay there is no means of communication by telegraph wire or railway.

Beyond Rupert House, the fliers plan to land at Great Whale River, on the east shore of Hudson Bay, Wakeham Bay on Hudson Straits, and Pangrintung, on Baffin Island; thence to Greenland, Iceland, Shetland Islands, Bergen, Stavenger, Norway, and Copenhagen.

Watchman Bound By Trio of Thugs

The stubborn persistence of a 72-year-old night watchman to release himself from his bonds was held largely responsible for frustration of an attempt by three men to crack the safe in the Washington Laundry, Twenty-seventh and K streets northwest, shortly after 10 o'clock last night. The trio fled empty-handed, leaving behind a charge of dynamite and four fuses which they failed to set off.

Joseph Cole, the watchman, surprised the yeggmen at work when he entered after discovering the side door had been forced. He was disarmed and tied to a chair. One of the men stood guard over him and the other two returned to the work of cracking the safe. They used linen, taken from the shelves, to muffle the expected explosion.

A few minutes before the trio fled, frightened by a passerby, Cole made a break, after releasing his shackles and defying the yeggs' guns, but was caught and returned to the chair.

BRITAIN FACING CABINET CRISIS IN BUDGET ROW

MacDonald's Plan to Cut Expenses and Add Tariff Opposed.

TRADES UNION JOINS IN FIGHTING MOVE

London, Aug. 20 (U.P.).—The Labor government came dangerously close to a cabinet crisis today through the threatened failure of its economy program.

Attempting to follow its middle course of "sacrifices by all" in the effort to balance the budget, Ramsay MacDonald's cabinet was unable to win the support of either the powerful Trades Union Council, its chief source of electoral strength, or the Conservative party, its chief opposition.

Furthermore, there were indications of dissatisfaction on the part of Philip Snowden, the Chancellor of Exchequer, who has borne the greatest part of the economy burden. It was said he was likely to resign if proposals for abandonment of England's free trade policy were accepted in the form of a 10 per cent import tax.

Liberal Party Dissatisfied.

The Liberal party also was dissatisfied with the taxation proposal, and with what they termed insufficient economies (such as reduction of unemployment relief) by the cabinet.

Final decisions were not reached, however, and the cabinet was given an opportunity to reconsider the situation tonight in preparation for a final effort to win cooperation of all factions at meetings tomorrow.

Prime Minister MacDonald's cabinet had outlined its position last night, and today it presented its proposals to the opposition parties, the Labor party executive and the Trades Union Council, asking for cooperation.

MacDonald and Snowden then faced representatives of the trades union and the national executive of the Labor party at the Transport House. Snowden, an invalid, entered the building on his wife's arm. His face was white and he appeared ready for one of the greatest battles of his life.

Statement Is Delayed.

The session lasted for 75 minutes, after which MacDonald said: "It is impossible to make a statement at present."

The Labor newspaper, Daily Herald, maintained that the cabinet favored a plan which would provide for a tariff, reduced administration expenses and salaries and increase various taxes without reducing social services.

The Daily Mail said: "The fate of the Labor government is in the balance."

"At midnight politicians were asking whether the government would be able to continue in office," the newspaper said. "It is clear that a determined opposition might succeed to the power, but it is equally evident that the Conservative party is not anxious to take office at present."

CUBAN REBELS CAPTURE PORT IN SWIFT RAID

Cubans Bomb Danish Ship; U. S. Notified

(United Press.)

The Cuban civil war yesterday caused a protest against alleged bombing and machine-gunning of a Danish merchant ship by airplanes.

A complaint from the ship Frederiksborg, near Antilla, a port on the far eastern end of the Island of Cuba, was received by the Navy yesterday and transmitted to the State Department. But at the State Department, several hours later, officials said the message had not been received.

The message asked that the report be transmitted to "authorities," but

K. OF C. GATHERING WILL BRING 50,000

Supreme Council Will Hold Fiftieth Session Here Next August.

The supreme council of the Knights of Columbus will hold its fiftieth annual convention here in August of next year, according to word received last night from French Lick, Ind., where this year's convention was held. It is estimated that 50,000 will attend.

Charles W. Darr, master of fourth degree members in Maryland and the District, last night said that the outstanding event at the three-day convention will be a parade of 10,000 members of the fourth degree from all sections of the country.

They will participate in unveiling a statue of the late James Cardinal Gibbons, Archbishop of Baltimore, which will be erected in a triangular plot in front of Sacred Heart Church, Sixteenth street and Park road.

The convention was brought here, Mr. Darr said, as part of the George Washington bicentennial celebration.

Another Knights of Columbus activity planned in connection with the bicentennial celebration will be exemplification of the fourth degree by candidates from all parts of the country. The degree will be conferred February 22.

A committee of members of District councils and those in nearby Maryland and Virginia will begin a campaign in the near future to bring visitors here for unveiling of the statue of Cardinal Gibbons.

Their efforts will be concentrated in Baltimore, the seat of the archdiocese, in Richmond, where Cardinal Gibbons was once bishop, and in North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, West Virginia, Maryland, Virginia and Alabama.

King George's 3d Son Stricken in London

London, Aug. 20 (U.P.).—The Duke of Gloucester, third son of the king and queen, is a patient in a nursing home owned by Lady Carnarvon, in the West End of London, it was learned tonight.

It was understood that he was suffering from appendicitis and probably will undergo an operation. He returned from Sandringham Palace Wednesday because of his illness. At midnight officials at the nursing home said that the duke was resting comfortably.

SHOOTING IN HAVANA RENEWS FEAR THERE

Suburban Police Increased; Santa Clara Peaceful; Machado Remains.

Havana, Cuba, Aug. 20 (U.P.).—A second revolutionary expedition has landed on the northern coast of Cuba and stormed the City of Nuevitas, important port and railroad center in Camaguey Province. The filibustering force was believed to have surprised government troops in Camaguey and, so far as meager advices received here indicated, to have made a successful raid on the port city.

Rebel sources understood the expedition was similar to the one which landed at Gibara, 85 miles eastward, earlier this week, only to be surrounded by a superior government force, which killed or scattered them and captured large supplies of machine guns, rifles and ammunition.

The attack on Neuvitas apparently was a strategic move by the revolutionaries, who hoped to gain control of two important railroad lines which run from the port, one crossing the island to the main line at Camaguey, and the other following the northern coast line. If the expedition should overcome federal troops sent against them they would be in a position to rally scattered insurgents throughout central Cuba.

An Old Battleground.

Nuevitas, which spreads over a peninsula beside the bay where Columbus landed in 1492, has been open to attack by filibustering expeditions since the seventeenth century and often has been captured or bombarded.

There was renewed anxiety in Havana, where scattered bursts of gunfire have been heard in the last 24 hours. Rebel sources reported that an outbreak in the capital was imminent, although there has been little disorder here since the beginning of the revolution August 9. Police in the suburbs have been reinforced, however, and now carry rifles and extra bandoliers of ammunition.

Gen. Alberto Herrera, chief of staff, said he was gratified by the outcome of the battle at Bibara, in eastern Oriente Province, yesterday, where federals claimed complete control of the city after a two-day engagement in which casualties were estimated as high as 600. Rebel forces remained in the province, however, and the government troops were conducting a systematic offensive against them in an effort to end the uprising in that region. Gen. Herrera said the aviation force had shown great courage and ability in the Gibara attack.

Santa Clara Reported Quiet.

Rebel sources, on the other hand, discounted the effect of the air attack, pointing out that three government planes were shot down by the insurgents.

President Gerardo Machado remained at his Santa Clara headquarters, where he is directing activities in the region between Nuevitas and Havana. Senator Viriato Gutierrez visited him this morning and various other politicians called later. The government said the entire Province of Santa Clara had been pacified.

New York, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Dr. Fernando Ortiz, member of the delegation in the United States of the Cuban Revolutionary Junta, telephoned New York headquarters tonight from Washington that Ambassador Harry F. Dr. Ortiz is understood to have given this information to Dr. Domingo Mendez Capote, chief of the delegation, and to have reported intense activity in the State Depart-

Bulgarian Communists Leave as King Speaks

Sofia, Bulgaria, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—The 30 Communist members of the Bulgarian Chamber of Deputies walked out of the chamber this morning after interrupting King Boris as he spoke from the rostrum inaugurating a special session.

Constables Ponder Writs As 101 Show Speeds West

Perplexed Officials Fail to Serve 50 Orders of Attachment Because of Failure to Provide Bond; Original Group Is Quashed.

The 101 Ranch Wild West Show, less wild and less Western than a fortnight ago, shook the accumulated dust of Washington from its feet last night and headed for the rolling plains of Oklahoma.

Along with the dust of Washington and dying embers of circus campfires, the show left behind it two greatly perplexed constables who held in their hands 50 unserved writs of attachment.

For the same two officers who so blithely halted the circus at Tuxedo, Md., Wednesday night, were left in a quandary late yesterday when the attachments were quashed by Judge Oscar T. Poore.

Counsel for unpaid employes had foreseen this and had Judge R. E. Altemus make out a fresh set of writs. Constables Howard Slater and Thomas Gasche had these in hand when the circus pulled out, but they didn't serve them.

J. Wilson Ryon and Lansdale G. Sasscer, attorneys for the show, told the two in no uncertain terms that they would sue them and sue them for plenty if they served the papers without requiring bond, Mr. Slater told The Post.

Constables Slater and Gasch consulted. They put the matter up to Thomas J. Luckett and Robert W. McCullough, counsel for the employes, and were told the $150,000 bond demanded was out of the question. So there were none to protest when a Pennsylvania engine backed up to the circus train at 7:30 p. m. and hauled it off of the siding.

As Mr. Slater put it:

"Of course we could have made the attachment, just as we did Wednesday night. But in the face of Judge Poore's ruling, we did not feel like taking that much responsibility upon ourselves, unless bond was put up."

Attorney H. L. McCormick, who with Norman B. Landreau fought an uphill fight for the showmen in Washington, was a disappointed man last night. He waited at his office in the Munsey Building until word was flashed that the train passed

COAL MEN PREDICT RAIL TRAFFIC LOSS

(Associated Press.)

An increased use of substitute fuels and the possible installation of pipe lines to transport pulverized coal to market were predicted yesterday by shippers opposing, before the Interstate Commerce Commission, the plea of the railroads for a 15 per cent rate increase.

Most of the session which brought hearings in Washington to a close was devoted to testimony in opposition to any increase in coal rates. Sidney W. May, representing the New York State Travelers Association, and Frank Carnahan, traffic manager for the Northeast Retail Lumbermen's Association, were the final witnesses.

The situation in the coal industry with constant loss of tonnage due to use of fuel oils, hydroelectric power and other substitutes for coal was discussed by Walter A. Jones, secretary of the Central Pennsylvania Coal Producers Association; H. L. Findlay, of Cleveland, representing Ohio interests; Frank S. Carr, of New York, representing the National Contractors Protective Association, and O. L. Alexander, of New York, representing Virginia, West Virginia, Tennessee and eastern Kentucky producers.

While Commissioners Meyer and Porter were holding the concluding session, announcement was made of a commission decision revising rates on Florida vegetables to points throughout the country. These revisions generally were downward although the level for the Florida rates still is higher than that from vegetable-producing centers of the Southwest.

In the rate-increase hearings Alexander, who is vice president of the Pocahontas Fuel Co., which produces 6,000,000 tons of coal a year, asserted unequivocally that the railroads would not realize an increase in revenue through increases in coal rates.

Yesterday's sessions brought to an end almost two weeks of testimony by shippers as to the probable effect of the railroad proposal to increase rates. The testimony was largely in answer to claims made by the railroads during hearings which started in Washington July 15.

Since that time hearings have been held at Portland, Oreg., and Portland, Me.; Atlanta, and San Francisco. Others will be held in Dallas, Salt Lake City, Kansas City (Mo.), and Chicago.

Decision in the case is not expected until fall.

distress, arising out of unemployment, must be a complete, effective and energetic local voluntary organization coordinating with local authorities," his statement said.

"During the past year many of the governors have established effective committees of leading citizens in their States. Many towns and cities have already well organized public welfare departments, community chests, family welfare and other prominent organizations covering the emergency problems as well as the normal functioning of their coordinated charities. Other cities have effected emergency relief committees coordinating and supplementing the action of their local charities and their county and municipal authorities.

"These organizations have most successfully carried the burden of the past winter. They are already developing plans and methods for the future. Where such voluntary organizations have not been created they should be set up at once in every city and town where there is a problem. I appeal to the business and welfare agencies to see to the creation of such definite organizations to meet the situation which do not already exist.

"The second effort should be to organize the appeals for relief funds, so far as practicable, into coincident periods in a Nation-wide effort. This is not a suggestion of a national fund. The whole purpose must be to support individually all local organizations that they may be strengthened to compass their responsibilities. I shall ask the national representatives of such organizations to meet with me at an early date to advance methods to this end."

MINE TRIAL SHIFTED ON MOTION OF STATE

Move for Change of Venue Is Surprise to Burnett Defense at Harlan.

Harlan, Ky., Aug. 20 (A.P.).—An abrupt end came to the trial of William M. Burnett, 36, miner charged with murder in connection with Harlan County coal field disorders, when Circuit Judge D. C. Jones ordered a change of venue late today on motion of the Commonwealth.

After the Commonwealth had accepted a jury and the defense had rejected seven of the twelve tentative jurors, Commonwealth Attorney W. A. Brock surprised defense counsel by moving that the defense's previous request for a change of venue be granted.

Earlier in the day Judge Jones overruled a motion for a continuance and refused to disqualify himself at the request of Ben Golden, one of Burnett's counsel. Golden then said he desired to file a motion for a change of venue, but did not have it prepared.

When Brock moved for the change of venue later, Golden urged the court not to rule on it until Monday, when rulings are to be made on similar motions on behalf of 30 other men charged with murder. Judge Jones refused to delay his ruling, stating he desired to dispose of the case at once.

Golden then requested a delay until tomorrow, stating he had wired former United States Senator John M. Robsion to come here for a consultation. This request also was rejected.

In moving for the change of venue, Brock said he agreed with the defense claim that an impartial jury could not be obtained here because of the tense feeling.

The case was transferred for trial to Montgomery County and will be called at Mount Sterling November 5.

Diplomat's Wife Finds Lost Gems

$10,000 Diamond Bracelet Was Temporaily Misplaced, She Wires.

The mystery of the disappearance Wednesday of the $10,000 diamond-studded platinum bracelet of Mrs. Anna Schoellkopf, wife of an American diplomat, from her home at 2700 Macomb street northwest, was dissolved yesterday by a wire received from Mrs. Schoellkopf, which stated she recalled where she placed the bracelet.

While headquarters detectives went about investigation of what appeared to be an important robbery, the wire was received at Mrs. Schoellkopf's residence.

The bracelet was found, placed in safe keeping, and police were communicated with, marking the matter off as closed.

Economic Compromise Is Seen at Institute

Williamstown, Mass., Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Compromise between capitalism and communism was seen as a future trend of planned economy by speakers at the institute of politics today.

Prof. Salvin B. Hoover, of Duke University, in speaking before the institute tonight on capitalism, fascism and communism as "three competing systems," held that the social changes, rather than the economic conditions, empasize most sharply the gulf between the capitalistic and the communistic world and that economic efficiency will determine the victory of one over another.

SOVIET TO BROADEN MASS FEEDING PLAN

25,000,000 Workers to Get Food at Public Halls, Decree Says.

Moscow, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Mass feeding of Russia's workers on a much wider scale is arranged in a decree issued today by the Central Executive Committee of the communist party.

Present facilities for this work are inadequate, the decree said, although they care for approximately 12,000,000 workers and their families, who are fed collectively at factory kitchens, public dining halls and feeding stations for children.

Meals are served in these establishments at nominal prices ranging from 13 to 40 cents. The recent drive to attract more women from their own kitchens to industry has taxed the capacity of the "social feeding" facilities, especially in large cities.

About $14,750,000 is to be spent for the construction and equipment of 300 new factory kitchens and 4,000 dining halls within the next three years, under terms of today's decree. These will feed 25,000,000 persons.

A group of 500 party men will be mobilized to supervise the work. Foodstuffs will be improved, diets varied and more efficient methods introduced. The cooperative societies in charge of distribution of foodstuffs have been greatly handicapped lately not only by the shortage of facilities but by the poor quality of food, unsanitary conditions, overcrowding, poor discipline among employes and improperly trained cooks.

Another decree issued today sets up special funds in all branches of industry to reward workers and plants making exceptional contributions to the advancement of the five-year plan.

Although the government and the party have regularly made such awards, this is the first time the policy has taken the form of an official decree.

Manufacturers' Chief Backs Hoover Aid Plan

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, Aug. 20.—Assurance of full cooperation of the manufacturers of the country in his program of employment relief was given to President Hoover today by John E. Edgerton, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, following the announcement of the appointment of Walter S. Gifford to head the relief agencies during the winter.

Mr. Edgerton wired President Hoover in part: "Every manufacturer and forward-looking American business man will approve and most heartily cooperate to insure full success in your constructively timely action in appointing Walter S. Gifford to head the organization of a Federal board to mobilize all agencies of unemployment relief."

Builder Is Missing; Had $200 in Pocket

Wife Reports His Failure to Return Home; Police Launch Search.

While a mother and three children lay sleepless in their beds in a small cabin at the Washington Tourist Camp, police are seeking Victor Hansen, 46-year-old contractor, husband and father of the family, who has been missing since early Wednesday night. A sum approximating $200 in bills was on his person when last seen.

Mrs. Irene Hansen, 37, said that she had worked with her husband on the pay roll for his small force of workmen at the Victor Building, 724 Ninth street northwest, until early Wednesday night. Hansen then left her, saying he would return soon.

Mrs. Hansen said her husband had been working very hard and in addition to the fear that he may have been slugged and robbed, agreed with another theory that he may have become victim of amnesia or similar attack.

Committee Will Give Advice to Gifford on Program for Aiding Jobless.

ployed as she is to bear her share of a Federal fund for that purpose.

"The open letter addressed by Gov. Pinchot to President Hoover seems to me to be a serious mistake. I am sure that it does not express the idea of the people of Pennsylvania. We can handle our local affairs for ourselves better than Washington can handle them for us.

"We do not ask subsidies from the Federal Treasury, if for no other reason than that we have discovered by sad experience, that whenever that sort of thing begins, Pennsylvania has to pay more in new taxation than it gets back from Washington in subsidies.

"We are convinced that at the present moment the National Government is doing about all that it can in new construction work throughout the country. Even if new national appropriations for construction were made now, the unemployment situation would not begin to feel the effect until long after next winter has passed.

"The whole country knows the severity of this depression. It is our greatest crisis since the World War. Each of us owes a clear duty to do his best to mitigate and end it.

Calls It Local Problem.

"Finding work for people who need it is a local problem. Our neighbors who want work are entitled to our help, not as a charity, but in common justice. We can not shove off the responsibility onto President Hoover. It seems to me that the very self-respect of the individual States is at stake. We must face our own problem, tackle our own task, care for our own people and leave Washington to cope with the work that properly belongs to it.

"There is no cure-all for the ills which afflict the United States and the rest of the world. We are passing through a difficult period of readjustment, out of which will come strength and wisdom to meet the problems of the future. To call Congress into session now would only encourage the sort of legislative quackery that always makes its appearance in times like the present.

"It is not by this process, but by the workings of natural forces and the collective good sense of the American people that we shall recover our economic equilibrium. I am quite sure that the country as a whole will condemn any attempt to force the President to adopt the course which would be as futile as it is unwise."

Croxton Gifford's Aid.

The White House announced yesterday morning that Fred C. Croxton, of Ohio, had been appointed as assistant to Mr. Gifford in the new unemployment relief organization. Since last April Mr. Croxton, in the absence of Col. Arthur Woods, has been acting director of the President's Emergency Committee on Unemployment. This committee is to be absorbed by the Gifford organization.

The White House also made it known that Mr. Gifford will be in complete charge of the relief organization, and that the advisory committee will be just what its name implies, a group upon which Mr. Gifford can depend for advice.

STREET IS "LOANED" TO MIDWEST STATES

Chest Director Will Act as Regional Chief in Ohio and Michigan.

Elwood Street, director of the Washington Community Chest, will serve for three months, beginning September 1, as regional director for the States of Michigan and Ohio in the national welfare and relief mobilization to be held in cities of more than 25,000 population this fall.

Mr. Street will take over this job as a "loan" from the Washington Chest, at the request of J. Herbert Case, president of the Association of Community Chests, and Fred C. Croxton, chairman of the President's Emergency Committee for Employment. The decision to release Mr. Street for this work was reached by the executive committee of the Washington Chest yesterday afternoon.

"In view of the emergency and national call to service that has been given us, we are asking chests with outstanding directors to release to our services these men," Mr. Chase said in his letter requesting Mr. Street's services.

"This request comes as the result of the splendid work Mr. Street has done in the field of community organization," Mr. Croxton said in his letter.

"We are glad to make this contribution to meet the national welfare emergency which faces us," Arthur Hellen, secretary of the Washington chest, said after the meeting.

Mr. Street has been director of the Washington chest for almost three years, having helped organize it in 1928. For eight years prior to that time, he was director of the Community Council and Community Fund of St. Louis.

During his absence, Herbert L. Willett, jr., assistant director, will serve as acting director of the Washington chest, the executive committee decided.

MEXICO JUSTIFIES ALIEN WORKER BAN

Figures Quoted to Support Restrictions on Entry of Tourists.

Mexico City, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—The immigration department today made public figures intended to justify restrictions recently placed in force to prevent entry into Mexico of foreign workmen in the guise of tourists.

The figures were published in reply to a reported statement by the American consul at Nogales, Sonora, in which the consul was reported to have deplored the "restrictive aspect" of the laws.

Tourists entering the country on six months' permits averaged 3,000 monthly from September, 1930, to June, 1931, the department said, while those leaving averaged less than 300 monthly until May of this year, when steps were taken to prevent persons whose tourist permits had expired from remaining in the country.

The department said the measures were not intended to restrict legitimate tourist travel, but were meant to end the practice of workmen entering the country on tourist permits and remaining in Mexico permanently.

Such steps were necessary to prevent foreigners from occupying jobs needed by Mexicans, the department added, pointing out that the unemployment problem has become acute in Mexico.

No direct statement was available here from the consul at Nogales. The government's statement said the remarks attributed to the consul came from reports only and that it would not take responsibility for saying that the consul actually made the criticism.

Congress of Costa Rica Disclaims Lottery Plan

San Jose, Costa Rica, Aug. 20 (U.P.).—Congress took action today to notify diplomatic and consular agents abroad that the Costa Rican government is not responsible and is not backing an international sweepstake lottery operating in San Jose and based on the running of the Pimlico Futurity, November 7, in the United States.

DO-X Reaches San Juan, First U. S. Port of Call

San Juan, Porto Rico, Aug. 20 (U.P.).—The German flying boat DO-X arrived late today after a flight over the Lesser Antilles from Port of Spain, Trinidad Island. The big ship, en route from Rio de Janeiro to New York, left Port of Spain early this morning on the journey of some 700 miles.

The DO-X took on 1,500 gallons of fuel here and will add one passenger, George W. Crouse, of Syracuse, N. Y., to her list before departing for Antilla, Cuba. If rebel activities in Cuba prevent a landing the ship will continue to Miami.

San Juan was the first United States port of call for the DO-X since it left Germany last autumn on its flight to New York.

Vera Cruz Bombs Wreck Norwegian Consul's Home

Vera Cruz, Mexico, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—A series of mysterious bombings, which have kept the State of Vera Cruz in alarm the past few week, continued today with three explosions, two of which occurred in the residence of the Norwegian consul. The explosions caused considerable property damage, but no one was injured.

The other bomb exploded at 3 a. m. at the entrance to the home of Ernesto Arizmendi, destroying part of the building and also a milk store and office next door. Most of the bombings have been at the homes of prominent Catholics, but the motive for bombing the Norwegian consul's home was a complete mystery today.

Paraguayan Acceptance Of Bolivian Pact Is Seen

Buenos Aires, Aug. 20 (U.P.).—A dispatch to the newspaper La Razon today said the Paraguayan government had given representatives of the neutral countries mediating in the Paraguay-Bolivia troubles a note replying to the Bolivian suggestion for a non-aggressive pact.

It was understood the reply signified acceptance of the pact in principle, while proposing to explain the Paraguayan viewpoint at the next meeting of the neutral nations.

Soviet Trading Company Is Banned by Argentina

Buenos Aires, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—The government today withdrew the corporate privileges of the Iuyamtorg, Russian trading organization. The action is equivalent to dissolution of the organization.

The Iuyamtorg was raided recently by police and its records subjected to a close scrutiny by government authorities.

Exports were valued at 383,853,000 gold pesos, which is 2.7 per cent less than the figure at this time last year, and imports totalled 333,743,000, or 24.9 per cent lower than in 1930.

Self-Reliance Campaign To Bar Golf and Fishing

By JOHN J. DALY

HE neither fishes nor plays golf. This is the tribute paid to Walter Sherman Gifford, appointed by President Hoover to mobilize unemployment relief. So shall the winter of our discontent be made glorious summer by this son of New York.

Neither fishing nor golfing will solve the unemployment problem. That a man who does neither is made master of mobilization assures the Nation, forthright, that all will be well. Our stern alarums change to merry meetings.

Instead of sitting out on front porches telling of the catch, or making fabulous excuses at the nineteenth hole — over the miserable showing on the previous eighteen—here is a man who will set an example for the Nation; and what the Nation needs, over and above all, is some one not addicted to the pernicious vices of golfing and fishing.

* * * *

BECAUSE he neither fishes nor golfs he does not do these things:

Lie about the catch.

Sit in a boat and day dream.

Attend Pantagruelian dinners arranged by the Izaak Walton League, wasting more valuable time.

Join the galleries following the George Von Elms and the Billie Burkes—Billie Burke, the golfer, and not the stage star—around the links.

Squander his patrimony betting on the antics of the little white pill.

Keep dinner waiting for hours and drying up in the oven.

Get his feet or his trousers wet, developing headaches and fallen arches—and so much time lost in the marts of trade.

Cuss and swear like a trooper, using abusive language toward inanimate objects and partners in the game, and a thousand and one other offenses committed by the devotees of fishing and of golf, whose sins, venial though they be, cry to high heaven.

Disturb the household getting up at 4 a. m.

* * * *

BREATHES there a man with soul so dead who never to himself has said, "This is the last game of golf I'll ever play. This is the last time they'll ever get me out on a fishing expedition." Proof positive, if any is needed, that those who seek diversion in these fields are chasing the ever-elusive will-o'-the-wisp.

At least one great American perceives the futility of it all, and because of this the President of the United States, who himself pleads guilty of the sin of stealing off a-fishing for a week-end hour or twain, recognizes Walter Gifford's devotion to duty and places him at the head of the National Self-Reliance movement.

For exercise Mr. Gifford rides a horse.

For diversion he reads.

Here are two of the great pastimes that made America what it is—the rough riding of the Old West, the lure of the ranch and the rodeo, and the pages perused by the scholars and statesmen of the past.

* * * *

SO, America, by the appointment of Walter S. Gifford, comes back again into the glow of its greatness. While the new figure in public life will have little time to ride horseback, he will be kept busy riding roughshod over the proponents of various and sundry plans for making Uncle Sam the pack horse of the people.

While he will have little time to read his favorite authors, he will be kept busy reading reports coming in from every village and hamlet—no golf scores and no fishing tales amongst them.

The day of frivolity has passed. The time has come now to knuckle down, and get back to work. This is the task allotted to Mr. Gifford, and this is the job that will be tackled and accomplished; for here is a man who knows just where to find the unemployed on the golf courses and the fishing grounds.

The golf links of this country are cluttered with the idle. One of the greatest problems confronting the Nation at this time is the marching of our manhood from the little streams and great bays—and even the ocean—to the offices and factories. Take away the fishing tackle and the golf clubs and—presto!—the job is done.

The thought is stupendous: Of how many men in public life can this be said, they neither play golf nor do they fish? And these are the men to whom the traditions and the glories, not to mention the safety, of a Nation are intrusted.

Hail, then, to the new leader destined to bring the country back to normalcy!

YATES' BLONDE SENT BACK FOR JAIL WAIT

Court Holds Woman to See Result of New Jersey Senator's Wound.

New York, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—After a momentary collapse in a stuffy courtroom while her attorney argued for her immediate release on bail, Ruth Jane Cranmer was returned to Harlem jail for another 24 hours late today.

By tomorrow, it was announced, the State hopes to provide the court with definite assurance of whether State Senator Roy T. Yates, of New Jersey, whom she is charged with shooting, will recover from his abdominal wound.

As she prepared to spend her third night in jail the 27-year-old blonde expressed confidence her troubles soon would be over. She said she would go away—"far away."

Yates Won't Prosecute.

With the senator refusing to sign a complaint against the woman with whom he sought to break off a three-year relationship because of his rising political influence, the State's efforts to prosecute her on an assault charge appeared headed toward a stone wall.

In an hour's conversation with authorities, allowed to see him at the hospital for the first time since he was shot Friday after a gin party in the apartment he provided for Miss Cranmer, Senator Yates insisted he had no recollection of how he came to be shot.

He defended his action in placing the intellectually inclined girl on the pay roll of the New Jersey Pension Survey Commission, saying she had worked to earn the two checks for $566 which were found in her apartment and which has precipitated an investigation by Gov. Morgan F. Larson.

Political Aid Rumored.

In her second appearance before Magistrate Ford today Miss Cranmer was accompanied by counsel. Former Assistant District Attorney Ferdinand Pecora appeared at her side, telling reporters Miss Cranmer had retained him last night and refusing to discuss reports that her defense was to be financed from political sources.

Pecora was one of several attorneys who visited the woman in her cell. Of each she demanded to know "Who sent you?"

Some newspapers had quoted her previously as saying that unless "certain persons" came to her aid she would "tell all."

After some dickering over her release at today's hearing, Miss Cranmer suddenly swayed dizzily and fell back into the arms of attendants. She as quickly revived and continued to shield her face from photographers with a magazine.

Her mother, Mrs. Hannah Cranmer, of Toms River, N. J., embraced her affectionately.

Barron Collier's Nephew Shot Dead.

New York, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—C. M. Collier, jr., 32, of Miami, Fla., was found dead today in his room at Times Square Hotel. He was shot through the heart and an Army service revolver and a burned towel lay on the floor at his side. When Washington Was Younger—No. 20

HISTORIC Pennsylvania avenue, the street of parades, looked like this in 1873. That was a long time ago and many automobiles have come and gone across its expanse since then, but there are no automobiles in this picture.

MEDDLING CHARGE FLUNG AT SEABURY

Subpenaing of Mayor's Fiscal Secretary Attacked by Committeeman.

New York, Aug 20 (A.P.).—From Democratic quarters today came the accusation that the Republican-controlled Hofstadter committee is "attempting to pry into the private life of Mayor James J. Walker."

Samuel Seabury, chief counsel for the legislative committee investigating the Tammany city government, sought a subpena during the afternoon for Russell T. Sherwood for questioning in regard to "certain matters in which he acted as an agent for Mayor Walker."

He refused to disclose what the "certain matters" were.

Senator John J. Dunnigan, spokesman for the Democratic minority of the committee, immediately issued a statement declaring that the man sought is an accountant who handles the mayor's private business affairs.

"Mr. Seabury, in trying to reach Mr. Sherwood, is attempting to pry into the private life of Mayor Walker," Senator Dunnigan said. "He has no right to do this, as he pledged himself not to go into the mayor's personal affairs at the start of the investigation."

Another friend of the mayor, Generoso Pope, publisher of Italian language newspapers and head of the Colonial Sand Co., was drawn into the investigation today by Mr. Seabury, who admitted that Pope "was questioned on several phases of municipal affairs."

Meanwhile, the committee began a search for proof of police graft as it turned its spotlight on the secret papers of Arnold Rothstein, slain gambler, and issued subpenas for reputed owners of three of the largest speakeasies bordering on Times Square. Those called will be asked how they "keep their standing" with police.

U. S. Will Deal With China On Wheat for Flood Relief

30,000,000 Persons Left Homeless; Famine Is Seen as Certain.

Relief for the 30,000,000 persons left homeless by the record high waters was being organized under the leadership of the Nationalist government.

Announcement was made of progress in negotiations with the United States Farm Board for purchase of 15,000,000 bushels of American surplus wheat on credit, to be used to ward off the worst of the famine certain to follow this flood.

Boats Used for Rescue.

All available boats on the Yangtze and Whangpoo Rivers were pressed into service for rescue of persons left after the Yangtze's swelling tide. The government's airplane survey party, flying this week from here to Hankow along the 600-mile winding course of the river, observed many refugees camped on the dykes between Anking and Kiukiang.

These the steamers will take to some safer ground, as surveys for the past few days have revealed many dykes undermined and so weakened they may break at almost any time.

The Kuomin dispatches telling of the Lu Ho flood in Szechwan Province, the most populous of the eighteen provinces of old China, did not make clear just when the waters had struck. Due to badly battered communications systems, it may be the flood to which reference was made has already reached the lower Yangtze.

If, however, the high water hit within the past 24 hours, Hankow may expect another visitation of the flood which already has put much of the city 10 to 20 feet below the river's surface.

Thousands Are Drowned.

The Kuomin Agency said only the northern part of the big interior province—Szechwan has an area of 218,000 square feet, or more than four-fifths the size of Texas, and a population estimated in excess of 52,000,000—had escaped the floods which have swollen the Yangtze and its tributaries. In the central and southern areas thousands perished. The big river winds along the southeast side of the province, forming part of its boundary.

The News Agency said that along the Lu River the important towns of Ezechow, Nehkiang and Fushun had been flooded, killing an estimated 10,000 people in that area alone, while at Chungking, at the junction of the Yangtze and Kialing Rivers, several hundred more were dead.

The streets in Chengtu, the provincial capital, were said to have turned the rivers, while many villages were obliterated overnight.

Acknowledging the danger of disease, the Nationalist flood commission announced today the acceptance of an offer of aid from the public health section of the League of Nations.

Canadian Wheat Bonus $6,000,000

Men Who Actually Grow It to Share That Amount in Three Provinces.

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Between six million and eight million dollars will be distributed directly to growers of wheat in the three prairie provinces as a result of a government bonus of 5 cents a bushel, E. B. Ramsay, chairman of the board of grain commissioners, estimated today.

A staff of 40 persons will be installed in an office here to check up bonus receipts with cash grain tickets throughout the West. The clerical office will be managed by the chief accountant of the board of grain commissioners.

The bonus, Mr. Ramsay pointed out, "is for growing wheat—not for owning it. The man that grows the wheat gets the money whether he owns the grain or not, or regardless of whether he grows it for some one else."

The only exception will be the man on the farm who is paid wages in money, or partly in money and partly by share of the crop. Should he get wages entirely through crop-sharing, the bonus of 5 cents a bushel goes directly to him.

Officer's Slayer Gets 32 Years.

Watseka, Ill., Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Joseph Jazorsk, who with two companions robbed the Buckley State Bank, July 17, today was convicted of the murder of Deputy Sheriff Henry Ennen, and was sentenced to 32 years in the State Penitentiary at Joliet.

Authorizes Negotiations to Sell Nanking Officials 15,000,000 Bushels.

(Associated Press.)

The sale of 15,000,000 bushels of stabilization wheat for the relief of Chinese flood sufferers seemed, in prospect yesterday with an announcement that the Farm Board had authorized negotiations to that end with the Nanking government.

Chairman Stone said the board, in repsonse to an informal inquiry, had informed the Chinese government that the Grain Stabilization Corporation, owner of more than 200,000,000 bushels of surplus wheat, would be glad to discuss the proposed transaction with Chinese officials.

The question of payment has not been considered, but Mr. Stone said he assumed it would be on a long-term credit basis backed by direct governmental obligations. The sale price is to be the market price at time of shipment.

Predicts Cotton Reduction.

Mr. Stone predicted extensive cotton acreage reduction next year would result from the board's recent suggestion that one-third of the current crop be destroyed.

Although the plan has apparently been rejected by the Southern States, he added its proposal had revealed the seriousness of the situation and had set the farmers to thinking.

Some 200 counterplans have been received and are now being analyzed by the board's experts. From them a new plan may emerge. In any event, Stone said, "acreage reduction must be done by the people of the South themselves."

Nanking's inquiry on the possibility of the wheat purchase was referred to the White House, as well as to the board. President Hoover said in a message to President Chiang that flood conditions in the Yangtze Valley were causing "friendly concern" in the United States. Hundreds have drowned in the flood waters, which have reached a level higher than the record disaster of 1870.

May Decide Within Week.

An agreement for the sale may be reached within a week. Much wheat already is stored on the Pacific seaboard. The board, to obviate any protests from grain traders, such as were raised against sale of cotton to Germany, Mr. Stone said, would probably stipulate the wheat is to be used in the flood areas only.

While considering the Chinese situation, the seriousness of which Mr. Stone said was unknown to the American people, the board also has given informal attention to domestic food relief.

The chairman said the suggestion of Samuel R. McKelvie, former board member, that some of the wheat surplus be made available for the needy in cities in the form of bread, has been under consideration for the last ten days.

Carl Williams, a member of the board, suggested that Community Chests buy wheat direct from the Stabilization Corporation. He added that the board might be in a position to accept notes in payment.

Live Stock Men to Organize.

Chairman Payne, of the Red Cross, conferred yesterday with the Farm Board and later announced that the formation of an Eastern Live Stock Cooperative would be completed "within the next few weeks."

Mr. Payne said he went to the conference in the role of a Virginia farmer.

"Live stock farmers of Virginia, Maryland and West Virginia are organizing," Mr. Payne said. "Headquarters will be established in the cattle markets of Baltimore, Lancaster, Pa., and Jersey City. The organization will represent interests of several million dollars a year."

"The cooperative is being formed along the lines suggested by the Farm Board," he added. "We are not contemplating negotiating a loan, but are simply receiving advice."

COMPENSATION ACT REVISION PROPOSED

O'Neil Outlines Legión's Legislative Program; Asks for Liberalization.

Liberalization of the adjusted compensation act, increased care for disabled veterans and a stronger national defense policy were advocated yesterday in a statement by Ralph T. O'Neil, national commander of the American Legion.

The statement was issued to clarify some misunderstanding on the organization's problems, he declared. Commander O'Neil said no one had authority to speak for the legion on what legislative program it will present to the next Congress.

Noting that 15 per cent of the unemployed are World War veterans, Mr. O'Neil declared that immediate need for further liberalization of the compensation act would be removed if the unemployment situation was relieved.

He defended the 50 per cent loan value granted by Congress last spring on veterans' adjusted service certificates, but said the matter of further liberalization would be determined at the national convention in Detroit.

The interest rate of 4½ per cent should be reduced the legionnaire asserted, because he feels the Government is making money by loaning veterans their own reserve funds.

Legislation to provide for wives and children of veterans undergoing hospitalization should be enacted, with further relief for widows and orphans of veterans, he declared.

The statement held that Congress should enact proper legislation based on the findings of the War Policies Commission, and declared that the Navy should be built up to London Treaty parity. He also urged legislation to carry out the spirit of the 1920 defense act.

Commander O'Neil declared that the Legion should support legislation to give the Department of Justice full authority to deal with communism.

The British foreign office said he had cabled the acceptance of the appointment and that it had been approved by the governments of Great Britain, France, Germany, Belgium, Italy and Japan.

Baldwin Recalls Fight With Arctic

His battle with Arctic ice and a waning coal supply, recalled by the finding by the Soviet ice-breaker Maligin, of one of the notes he left at Alger Island 29 years ago, was detailed last night in a radio address by Evelyn B. Baldwin, Washington explorer, now with the historical section of the Navy Department.

The note was one left by the Baldwin-Zeigler expedition, telling expected relief ships where to leave coal and supplies in case that point was reached, Mr. Baldwin explained. His ship, the America, was forced to make a dash through the ice for safety when the coal supply grew low, he said.

The relief ship never arrived, and after a hard struggle and many hardships, Mr. Baldwin and the expedition finally won to a Norwegian port with only a ton and a half of coal remaining in the ship's bunkers. Mr. Baldwin told of several important scientific discoveries his expedition had made while in the ice fields.

Washington is still wondering what really called off the Mrs. Jacob Leander Loose celebration on the North Shore.

Thompson Will Attacked by Kin

Relatives of Traction Magnate's Widow Allege Undue Influence in Writ.

Charging that Mrs. Flora B. Thompson, widow of the late John W. Thompson, banker and traction magnate, had been unduly influenced by "John Doe and Mary Smith" when she made her will, and also that she was not of sound mind at the time, Edward C. Reid and Adele M. Bowman, grandnephew and grandniece of Mrs. Thompson, yesterday filed caveats attacking the will left by Mrs. Thompson.

The will disposes of property valued at more than $125,000, and it names George W. White and the National Metropolitan Bank as executors. They are directed to pay out several specific bequests to relatives and to charity, and the remaining estate is to be used in the erection of a memorial here to her husband and her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Markward.

Fire-Eating Patrick Henry 'Not So Hot' to John Adams

Denton, Md., Aug. 20 (A.P.).—A letter written by John Adams in 1818, found among old papers here by Miss Helen Richardson, reveals that the second President of the United States envied "none of the well-merited stories of Virginia or any of her sages or heroes," but was "jealous, very jealous, of the honor of Massachusetts."

Furthermore, Adams did not greatly admire Patrick Henry, fiery Virginia patriot.

The letter was found among old papers left by Miss Richardson's uncle, Joseph Richardson, former employe of the Baltimore postoffice, who died in 1872. It was written to William Wirt, of Maryland, for twelve years Federal Attorney General, who had just published "Sketches of the Life and Character of Patrick Henry."

"The resistance to the British system for subjugating the colonies began in 1760, and 1761, in the month of February, when James Otis electrified the Town of Boston, the Province of Massachusetts Bay and the whole continent; he did more than Patrick Henry ever did in the whole course of his life," wrote the former President.

The letter was written January 5, 1818, when Adams was in retirement. He listed a score of Massachusetts and New England figures in the Revolution to offset the glory claimed by Wirt for the Virginians.

"If we must have panegyric and hyperbole, I must say that if Mr. Henry was Demosthenes and Mr. R. H. Lee, Cicero, Mr. Otis was Isaiah and Ezekiel united," he wrote.

Miss Richardson is a descendant of Col. William Richardson, who served in the Continental Army and was a member of the electoral college that elected George Washington President.

Sale of Bond Basis Of 5 Fraud Counts

Officers of Large Firm Are Indicted by Boston Jury.

Boston, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—A Federal grand jury today indicted five men, who, in 1928, as officers of the American Bond & Mortgage Co., were charged with using the mails in a scheme to defraud. Sale of a $500 defaulted bond on a Brookline apartment house constituted the alleged overt act. The indictments did not indicate what connection the men might now have with the company.

Those indicted were William J. Moore, president; Harold A. Moore, treasurer; Charles C. Moore, vice president; Kenneth W. Moore, secretary, and Hayden W. Ward, vice president.

The company is incorporated under the laws of Maine and is said to be capitalized in a large amount.

Former Kaiser Studying Ancient Olympic Games

Doorn, The Netherlands, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Wilhelm II, former Emperor of Germany, has been immersed for several months in the study of the ancient Olympic games, it was learned today.

The exiled ruler has prevailed upon Gustav Oberlander, of Reading, Pa., philanthropist, to donate funds for the construction of a model of ancient Olympia. Hans Schleif, Berlin engineer and architect, has been commissioned to rebuild the sacred vale in miniature, exactly as it looked 20-odd centuries ago, when the Olympic games flourished.

Archeology has long been the favorite study of the exiled ruler, and each year the leading German archeologists foregather at Doorn for a conference presided over by Wilhelm.

Former Policemen and Two Women Expected to Close Testimony.

With three former policemen and two women awaiting call, the District grand jury today will wind up its investigation into charges made by Frederick A. Schenck, discharged policeman, that he and others were ordered by high officials of the department to first "frame" Orville Staples, then a policeman, and, finally, to kill him, after he had been discharged from the force.

The three former policemen who will testify are Claude Ezell, Chester L. Goodwin and John Anderson.

Schenck, a convicted robber, now serving a 20-year sentence in Leavenworth, last month made sensational charges, which have been fully aired before the grand jury under the guidance of United States Attorney Leo A. Rover.

—they're FRESH!

IF you are not yet a Camel smoker you have a grand treat in store when first you enjoy the benefits of the Humidor Pack.

The three things in a cigarette that can make it sting the tongue and unkindly burn the throat are safely eliminated from Camels.

There are no harsh parched-dry tobaccos—the fine Turkish and mild Domestic tobaccos of which Camels are blended require no overheating to make them palatable.

There is no peppery dust to irritate the throat—that's whisked away by a special vacuum-cleaning process.

There is no staleness nor loss of fragrance—made fine, Camels are kept fine, wherever you buy them, thanks to the Humidor Pack.

This scientific germ-safe wrapping—not plain ordinary Cellophane, but moisture-proof Cellophane which costs nearly twice as much—seals in all the aroma and freshness, seals it so tightly that wet weather cannot make Camels damp, nor drought weather make them dry.

If you want to know what that means in throat-friendliness and smoking-pleasure, try Camels for just one day, then leave them—if you can.

COST PER PUPIL $48 IN PRINCE GEORGES

County Spends $683,809 on Schools in Year; Teachers Paid $434,242.

The Prince Georges County school system cost $683,809 during the school year which ended last summer, according to a report prepared for submission to the board of education at its meeting on September 1.

The largest item of expense was the salaries of teachers, which amounted to $434,242.84. New schools built during the period cost $114,903, and the administration expenses were $20,851. Other items were $20,604 for textbooks, $5,947 for materials, $20,296 for fuel and $26,501 for bus transportation for pupils.

Total receipts of the system during the year amounted to $741,660, of which $479,180 came from county funds. The State contributed $137,365, with about $20,000 more from the Federal Government.

The average cost of educating a pupil was $48.76 for the year. Cost per pupil in the high schools was somewhat higher. Each pupil in the Hickory Grove School, for instance, cost $134.57, while those in the Collington School were educated for $24.44 each.

There were 13,178 pupils in the schools, an increase of about 200 over the preceding year. In the white elementary schools there were 8,202; in the white high schools, 1,840; in the colored elementary schools, 2,868, and in the colored high schools, 268. There were 375 teachers for them.

Nicholas Orem, county superintendent of schools, said that attendance last year did not show the usual rate of increase, falling off about 50 per cent, although the enrollment is still growing larger each year. He also pointed out that the pupils are attending school more days in the school year, absences being cut down.

101 CIRCUS FINALLY STARTS MOVE WEST

through Baltimore at 9:15 without stopping. Then he went home.

He told The Post he had made attempts to attach the train at Harrisburg, Pa., and at Indianapolis, Ind. Everything depended, he said, on the bond requirements at the two points. If bond were required, the employes, already in financial distress, could not put it up. He had hoped the train would stop at Baltimore, so papers could be served at that point.

Harry S. Barger, attorney for the circus trustee, was elated when he heard the train had passed through Baltimore.

"They'll never stop it now," he said.

He said the development was the best possible for the employes, who, he declared, would have been in difficult straits after a few days on the Tuxedo siding. Arrangements have been made to feed the employes en route to Oklahoma, he said.

Judge Poore admitted his decision was "not to his personal liking;" that his sympathies were all with the nearly 400 employes who are several weeks behind in their pay.

He held, however, that affidavits were faulty and that property attached was in interstate commerce and not subject to attachment while in transit, in the hands of a common carrier.

"In rendering my decision," said Judge Poore, "it is my desire to state that I have the greatest sympathy with those who have failed to receive their pay, and wish it were in my power to aid them.

"But as I can only act upon the matter before me, which is a motion to quash the attachment levied upon the property of the Western Show Co., I uphold the motion to quash."

Attorneys for both parties were present when the ruling was read.

Meanwhile, the circus employes, stranded with the show between Tuxedo and Landover, were making the best of their lot.

The field beside the circus train resembled a bit of the old West, with cowboys riding herd on the drove of cattle and the few buffalo. Yesterday morning the resemblance was even more striking, when the herd of horses stampeded into the woods nearby. They were rounded up in the best movie manner by those cowboys who were already mounted.

The elephants were exercised some distance up the track. They were the only animals fed with hay yesterday, the cattle and horses grazing in the field, where they were herded.

The hands fed themselves with the remainder of the money given them by the American Legion. Each man, before the train left Washington, was given $1.60.

Early yesterday morning one of the special men employed to load the show appeared at the door of Chief of Police J. J. Crowley and said he had been chased away from the train by the regular hands. Chief Crowley sent him to stay in the Hyattsville Jail for the remainder of the night.

MAN FACES TRIAL AS HOUSEBREAKER

Caught in Act, Police Say, of Trying to Force Way Into Alexandria Home.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

Robert Jackson, colored, of Arlington County, was captured early yesterday morning, police claim, in an attempt to enter the residence of C. E. Havener, 63 East Walnut street, Rosemont.

Early yesterday Station Keeper Julian Rawlett received a telephone call from a man living next door to the Haveners, stating that an attempt was being made to break into their house. Policemen Dodd, Kaus and Stover responded to the call and said they found the man endeavoring to enter a kitchen window. All three officers opened fire with their revolvers, Dodd firing four shots and the others two each as the man fled down the road with the officers in hot pursuit. Jackson escaped injury and was later found lying beside the road near the hothouse on Mushpot road.

Jackson was arraigned in police court yesterday, charged with attempted burglary. He pleaded guilty. He was held for the action of the grand jury. When searched at police headquarters the only thing found on his person was a broken spoon, with which he had attempted to jimmy a screen to enter the Havener house.

The public schools of Alexandria will reopen on September 10, according to an announcement made yesterday by Supt. R. C. Bowton. A meeting of all teachers has been called for September 9.

Capt. Jack Meyers was the principal speaker at the weekly luncheon of the Alexandria Kiwanis Club yesterday. Earl Heatwol gave vocal selections, with Mrs. D. C. Book as accompanist.

Foreign Rebel Aids Suffer Heavily in Battle of Gibara

Witness Tells of Forming Legion Hard Hit in Town's Capture.

Havana, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—An eyewitness to the fighting during the past three days at Gibara informed the Associated Press today that heavy casualties were inflicted on the rebel "Foreign Legion" expeditionary force by government rifles and airplane bombs.

This informant—William Otis Fuller, an American resident of Holguin—said it was impossible to estimate the rebel dead. Government troops, he reported, lost about 250.

Fuller had a ringside seat during the storming of Gibara. From his home in Holguin, fifteen miles away, he accompanied a party to nearby Loma de la Cruz, a mountain from which they watched the fighting through glasses.

He said that in the expeditionary force, which landed Saturday at Gibara, there were reported to be Americans and a scattering of French, Germans and Japanese.

A small band of the rebels still was barricaded inside the Gibara railroad tunnel at noon today, he said, and the town was quiet. The tunnel is one of the two passages to Gibara by land. The revolutionaries placed machine guns at each entrance, and had been able to carry in good supplies of food and ammunition when they abandoned the town yesterday.

Fuller said buildings of the city were badly damaged during the three days of aerial bombing in which 900 to 1,000 bombs were dropped in an attempt to dislodge the insurgent force from its stronghold in the virtually inaccessible city.

Three Cuban planes were shot down during the 75 hours of fighting, and another was pierced in the wings by bullets. Government forces have six other planes in the sector, according to Fuller.

Army headquarters in Havana today said that no information had been received from troops in the field around Gibara since last night, and that no report was available as to estimated or actual number of casualties.

Havana Fixes Penalty For Discussing Revolt

Havana, Cuba, Aug. 20 (U.P.).—Discussion of revolutionary activities was prohibited on threat of heavy penalty today, under a bulletin issued by Col. Francisco Basco, military supervisor of Havana.

The penalty was set as a $50 fine or 15 days in jail, or both. The public also was forbidden to discuss movements of the federal army, on the grounds that "gossip" would tend to create a state of unrest. Members of the Diplomatic Corps are exempt from the regulation.

ment the past two days which he said had centered on the Cuban revolution.

"President Machado refuses to return to Havana from Santa Clara," Dr. Ortiz is said to have told Dr. Capote, "because he does not wish to meet the American ambassador who has been pressing him to end warfare and negotiate with revolutionary leaders."

Dr. Ortiz, it was said, had told Dr. Capote that Ambassador Guggenheim had represented President Machado as in control of the situation. The ambassador added, Dr. Ortiz reported, that it was a fact the majority of Cubans were in open opposition to the Cuban chief of State.

Dr. Capote said earlier today the Cuban revolution, if it can last a month, will drive Machado to seek a pacific settlement with opposition leaders, "even if the initiative must spring from Washington."

Ambulance Is Hit Carrying Injured

Four Persons Are Hurt in Crashes on Roads Near Lanham, Md.

Four persons, including a colored policeman and a mother and her two small children, were injured last night when the automobile in which they were riding skidded and overturned on the Defense Highway near Lanham, Md. A few minutes later the Prince Georges County rescue squad ambulance, which was taking the victims to Casualty Hospital, was struck by another machine and an attendant slightly hurt.

Those treated for minor cuts and bruises of the hospital were William A. Fish, the 26-year-old policeman of the Fourth Precinct, Mrs. Fred Hilliard and her two children, Fred, jr., 4, and Benjamin, 16 months. Also a passenger with them was Fred Hilliard, Third Precinct policeman and husband of Mrs. Hilliard. He was not injured. All are colored.

Edward Hill, 21-year-old member of the rescue squad, was cut and bruised on the leg when an automobile crashed into the ambulance about half a mile from the scene of the first crash as the victims were being transferred from another car which was taking them to the hospital. Joseph Petrowsky was reported to be the driver. He said he is from Camp Meade.

DANISH SHIP CITES CUBANS FOR BOMBS

did not indicate whether this meant United States or Cuban governments. It did not identify the attacking planes as Cuban federal planes, but it is not believed that the rebels have any planes.

Meanwhile, Cuban Ambassador Orestes Ferrera, who has been visiting in Geneva and Italy, was reported returning secretly to the United States on the Bremen, due in New York today. The Cuban Embassy refused to discuss the report.

United States Ambassador Harry Guggenheim reported to the State Department from Havana confirming the reports of the bloody victory of the federals in capturing the Town of Gibara, in the eastern Province of Oriente.

Ambassador Guggenheim also reported that U. S. consuls in various parts of the island confirmed information from federal sources, that the situation appears quiet in all parts, except near Gibara.

Nationalist, or rebel, headquarters here claimed that the federals lost twice as many in the Gibara fighting Wednesday. They claimed that the first body of federal troops was destroyed, and that the rebels retired only after inflicting heavy losses on the second force. The rebels said many civilians were killed at Gibara.

"The revolution is going forward, and according to our information, is gaining in strength," the Nationalists here asserted. They also said rebels are concentrating in Bayamo and Manzanilla, Oriente, and also that rebels still surround President Machado in Santa Clara, near the center of the island.

The Danish ship's report on the bombing, received by the United States Navy Base at Guantanamo, Cuba, at 11:37 a. m., and in Washington at 1:03 p. m., was as follows:

"Via steamship, Doris Kellog, bound Antilla. Have just been bombed and machine-gunned Cuban planes outside Antilla. Please report authorities. Signed Frederiksborg."

Graf Photo May Lead To Amundsen's Plane

Leipzig, Germany, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—A dark, sharp-edged blotch which appears on a photograph snapped by Prof. Paul Moltschanow, Russian scientist, as the Graf Zeppelin passed over the southeastern part of Novazembla, on its recent Arctic journey, aroused the belief here that it is remotely possible it might be the plane of Raoul Amundsen, noted Arctic explorer, who was lost on an expedition in 1928.

The spot on the Arctic terrain was not noticed by the eyes of the party aboard the Graf Zeppelin, but it was caught by the camera.

MONTGOMERY BANKS MUST PUT UP BONDS

Collateral Security by Institutions Handling County's Funds Ruled Illegal.

Montgomery County Bureau of The Post, 9103 Conn. Ave., North Chevy Chase, Md. Telephone Wisconsin 4205.

The Montgomery County Commissioners yesterday ruled against the posting of collateral security by banks handling county funds. The commissioners ruled that the statutes plainly call for depository bonds and that it is not within their jurisdiction to change the law.

The commissioners made their decision after Capt. Joseph C. Cissel, counsel to the county commissioners, had presented his opinion. The six banks which had asked for permission to post collateral security were notified that they would have to comply with the statutes or county funds would be removed from their vaults. Six county banks have already met the requirements by posting depository bonds.

Charles H. Griffith, of Silver Spring, who was appointed justice of the peace for Silver Spring District by Gov. Ritchie, yesterday took the oath of office before the clerk of the Circuit Court at Rockville, Clayton K. Watkins.

Mr. Griffith will make his office in the county building at Silver Spring. He is a native of Montgomery County and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard W. Griffith, of Silver Spring. Born in Poolesville district, he has resided in Silver Spring for the past twelve years and for several years has been connected with the firm of Griffith & Perry, coal merchants.

Judge Griffith succeeds Judge Ward W. Caddington, deputy clerk to the county commissioners and captain of the Service Company, First Infantry, Maryland National Guard, who resigned because the pressure of his other duties required his full time.

Approximately 35,000 bills for State and county taxes have been mailed by the office of J. Forest Walker, county treasurer, he announced yesterday. Approximately 10,000 more will be sent out in the course of this week.

Warner E. Pumphrey, post commander of Henderson-Smith-Edmonds Post, American Legion, of Rockville, has received a supply of bronze grave markers for distribution to families of those Montgomery County World War veterans who have died since the war. The families can place the markers themselves or the Rockville Post will do so if the families will notify Commander Pumphrey, who is a Rockville undertaker.

EFFECTIVE RELIEF.

The appointment by President Hoover of Walter S. Gifford as head of the national organization that will coordinate all public and private efforts to provide relief for the unemployed marks the inauguration of a campaign unprecedented in this country. Before the demands of winter months become urgent an efficient combination of public and private agencies will have been effected. That organization will be able to provide ample help wherever needed. There will be a popular response to such organized effort as has not been seen since the days of war subscriptions.

Mr. Gifford has outlined in general terms the plans that will be put into practical working order as rapidly as possible. Federal, State, municipal and local organizations will be aided by further units wherever necessary. The work and areas to be covered will be apportioned to avoid duplication of effort and conflicts of authority. This will be the all-important work of the national directing body. Local pride and effort will be stimulated by definite assignment to each community. The broad scope of the movement, as well as the character of the men who will lead it, may be expected to impart confidence and enthusiasm to every branch.

Midsummer is none too soon to begin the work. A three months' campaign of the most active sort throughout the entire Nation will be required to assemble the funds and perfect the organization that will make local contacts. It will require generalship of a high order and cooperation on the part of all citizens who are able to contribute in any measure, large or small. It is fortunate that such a public spirited citizen as Mr. Gifford, who is president of the largest corporate interest in the world, is in a position to devote his time, experience and tireless energy to this work. He is eminently qualified for this position of honor and trust. Americans will look to him as a leader who will carry out the desires of all citizens to alleviate the temporary misfortunes of their fellow countrymen.

It goes without saying that the most effective measure of relief for those out of work is to provide employment. A very small proportion of American unemployed are habitual drones who will not work when they have the opportunity. Undoubtedly the plans for extending outright charity when needed will be allied closely with the various agencies that are trying to bring employer and workers together.

If the American situation were anything like that existing in China, present efforts might appear hopeless. But in this country crops are abundant, and capital in almost incredible amount awaits investment. Industry is at a low ebb, trade is stagnant and the economic disturbance general throughout the world is responsible for low prices and lack of confidence that have been equally disastrous. Nevertheless, the 6,000,000 unemployed constitute but one-twentieth of the population. According to the latest figures they are but one-eighth of the 48,000,000 normally employed in gainful occupations.

Conditions in the United States stand out in sharp contrast with those in most parts of the world. If one out of twenty individuals could provide a job, unemployment would be wiped out. Let those who can provide jobs do so. Those who have jobs will join in contributing, through this Nation-wide organization, for relief of their less fortunate fellow workers.

A TARIFF FOR BRITAIN.

Great Britain is approaching a policy of tariff protection. For several months it has been apparent that Britain must get in step with the rest of the world or be overwhelmed by the economic forces which have resulted in surplus production in nearly every industry. It seems incredible that the British have been so blind to these world-wide economic changes or so presumptuous as to suppose that a free trade policy could survive in an era when every nation is trying to dump its surplus on the most available market while protecting its own producers.

The British cabinet is considering a 10 per cent general tariff "for revenue only." The budget crisis has brought the Labor government to the brink of a protective policy. If this plan is adopted, Premier MacDonald and Chancellor of the Exchequer Snowden will pretend that they were driven to it by the urgent necessity of raising money. Nevertheless, they can not overlook the fact that a considerable percentage of the British people have been converted to protection as the only means of bringing British industry out of the doldrums. If industry is given protection the people won't mind whether it is called a revenue or an industrial measure.

The United Kingdom is generally considered the last great stronghold of free trade. But that conception is very inaccurate. Britain already levies duties on numerous products. An enormous revenue is collected, for example, on tobacco from the United States. Figures prepared by the United States Tariff Commission indicate that the United Kingdom collected the equivalent of a 12.6 per cent duty on all its imports in 1930. This figure covers free as well as dutiable goods. The corresponding figure for the United States is only 14.8 per cent. Allowance must be made, of course, for the diminution and even exclusion of imports by the American tariff, which is not represented in this average ad valorem rate. Nevertheless, the addition of 10 per cent to the existing British tariff schedules would put that country well within the ranks of the protectionists.

Tariffs are an inevitable result of current economic developments. The world has learned how to produce more than it can consume under present conditions of maldistribution. Great industrial nations try to avoid the consequences of overproduction by shipping their surplus abroad. At the same time they protect their own industries from invasion by foreign enterprise. Hence, that country which attempts to maintain free trade allows its own industry to be crippled by foreign competition and becomes a dumping ground for the world.

Only one glance at international trade statistics is necessary to indicate that this has been the fate of Britain. Exports have been drastically curtailed, while imports have not. Millions are living on the dole, sapping the strength of the nation, while factories are idle and the people are supported largely by imports. The plight of the pig iron and steel industries is typical. A recent statement showed that exports had fallen off 28.4 per cent, while imports had increased 3 per cent.

Britain is certainly in need of more revenue. But back of that need looms the greater demand for rehabilitation of British industry. Perhaps Mr. MacDonald and even Mr. Snowden have seen the handwriting on the wall. If they choose to hold to their traditional policy in the face of disaster, their action will probably hasten the time when the Conservatives will have opportunity to put into effect a real protective policy.

WHEAT FOR CHINA.

The decision of the Farm Board to negotiate for sale of 15,000,000 bushels of its wheat to China is not very important from the standpoint of reducing the wheat surplus, but it is a friendly gesture to China that is not without significance. China is in desperate straits. Tens of thousands have been left homeless by the devastating floods in the Yangtze River valley. Chronic unemployment, civil war and banditry instigated by Soviet Russia have reduced China to a pitiful situation.

In spite of these calamities China is recognized as a great potential market. If the teeming millions of that enormous country had reasonable purchasing power, China would be the greatest market in the world. Development of modern economic institutions in that country will be slow, of course, but the whole world confidently expects China to occupy an important place in the commerce of the future. The United States can well afford to befriend China in its hour of distress.

Presumably wheat will be sold to the Nanking government on its promise to pay at some future time. That is the best security available in China at the present time. Even though it has been harassed by civil wars and Communist uprisings, the national government has maintained its equilibrium for nearly three years, and its position seems to be strengthened after each new conflict. Extension of credit to this government by the United States will enhance its prestige. Since the relief to be afforded must also be credited to Nanking by the Chinese who are facing starvation, the influence of the central government should be solidified.

Negotiation for a sale that promises to work to the advantage of both parties should not be difficult.

KEEP OUT THE CROOKS.

The executive council of the American Federation of Labor, in session at Atlantic City, N. J., took an untenable position on the question of fingerprinting Federal civil service applicants. The adoption of this most effective and accurate means of identification is referred to as humiliating and embarrassing in the council's statement. The council regards this practice as highly objectionable and proposes to fight its adoption by Congress.

To reduce the matter to fundamentals, the council might as well oppose a requirement for a signature on an application. Opposition to a system established as the most accurate, practical and simple in the attainment of permanent identification indicates a narrow viewpoint. In order to save applicants from the stigma of having to supply a set of fingerprints, the council suggests "investigations and resort to other means" to discover those applicants who have criminal records.

It is almost too obvious to require mention that the only persons who can be embarrassed by having their fingerprints taken are those with unsatisfactory records. The stand taken by the council might easily be construed as a form of collusion with those who might seek to falsify and deceive the Government. Desirable applicants are put to no more humiliation than might follow from exhibiting a set of dirty fingers.

Now, as never before, the need for the most direct, inexpensive and accurate methods in personnel matters is apparent. The Civil Service Commission is staggering under a tremendous burden thrown upon it by existing conditions. The number of applicants for all types of positions is many times greater than in previous years. In order to serve the governmental departments with the same dispatch as in normal times, the adoption of time-saving procedure is of first importance. The investigations suggested are not practical in view of the time and expense involved.

The function of the Civil Service Commission is to select and rate, in proportion to their ability to perform the various types of Government work, desirable and qualified workers. This system, evolved for the national good, is not functioning properly when cumbersome, obsolete and inaccurate methods retard its operations. The public has a right to demand that the most effective methods be used to exclude from the legion of workers handling its business those whose records show them to be unfit for positions of trust.

PROTECTING INVESTORS.

The strictest blue-sky legislation in this country has been passed without opposition by the Senate and Assembly of California. After several months of close examination and discussion at public hearings the legislative and financial committees, as well as interested civic bodies, have given their approval to a bill that will regulate the sale and issuance of all securities. The original investment companies act passed in 1913 was considered a strong measure at the time, yet in comparison the recent act is revolutionary.

The new law gives power to the commissioner, through injunction proceedings in the superior court, to halt dubious promotion schemes and illicit stock selling in any county in California. Free access to books and records gives him opportunity to investigate any company and he may seize the books of companies that are under suspicion.

Investment counselors, who in the past have been able to advise investors as they saw fit, will now be unable to operate without a license, and will be compelled to keep proper records and books of account. All advertising must carry the name of some responsible party, and radio advertising will have to be submitted to the division of corporations for inspection before it can be broadcast.

The corporation department will have its own attorney to render opinions upon questions of law and to represent the commissioner in the courts. Violations disclosed may be certified to the district attorneys of the various counties and prosecutors must take action on these cases within 90 days.

This new power in the hands of the commissioner puts teeth in the securities act. California has a special need to protect its investors because it is a popular rendezvous for sharks who have fake real estate and worthless securities to sell to new arrivals. Other States may profit by this bold stroke against "bucket shops."

FOOD INSTEAD OF COTTON

From the Manufacturers' Record.

The depth of interest in the American cotton situation has aroused voluminous discussion, which possibly may tend to obscure fundamental points. Aside from a proposal for actual destruction of part of the crop, which is unwise and impracticable, the nature and the number of suggestions advanced indicate the determination of the South to solve the problem—a determination which will hearten the entire country.

There is no occasion for too many gloomy expressions in the South or elsewhere about the South. The South continues solvent. It has handled big crops before. The financial loss may be severe, but the finger of distress is not pointed to the South alone at the present time, or at cotton as the only product selling below production costs.

Artificial palliatives which have no basis in sound business practice should be ignored.

It may be found practicable, with banking cooperation, to withhold at least one-third of the crop from the market for a year, with an agreement by the growers that half or more of a normal acreage will not be planted to cotton next year. The effect of such an announcement on prices and on business generally would prove immediately most helpful. The acreage withdrawn from cotton could be turned to the production of food products, to the inestimable and permanent advantage of the Southern States. The dependence upon outside food supplies makes the cotton situation largely what it is. The motto "Live at home" should be stressed unceasingly.

From another viewpoint, on the side of encouragement, with the staple selling at present prices foreign buying of American cotton may be revived in volume. The very cheapness of American cotton for a time will naturally compel the abandonment of much acreage, discourage increased production at home and abroad and tend to stop the opening of new cotton areas.

Furthermore, based on past experience, low-priced cotton promotes greater activity in textile manufacturing. Consumption is thus stimulated, which offers encouragement for the future, provided the South fully determines to turn its energy toward increasing the quality and length of the staple, growing better cotton on fewer acres and producing food for local needs. The solution rests with local bankers and other suppliers of farm credit, as much as with the individual grower. The financial and business element in the South must assume leadership proportionate to its responsibility.

POST HASTE.

In case of necessity for a long-distance call for relief we trust Chairman Gifford will not object to a reversal of charges.

Of course we must be neutral over Japan's treatment of American aviators, but would we smile if the Lindberghs hopped right over to China without seeing the Flowery Kingdom?

Publishing letters addressed to the President is an old publicity trick, but one hardly expects to see it indulged in by presidential aspirants, governors of the two greatest States, on the same day.

China's calamities are so overwhelming and her resources so inadequate to cope with them that solution of our own troubles appears simple in comparison.

Germany lauds the Wiggin report on debt revision, but it will get an official wiggin' over here.

Diversification of crops in France enables the farmer to hold his low-priced crop for a better market. Simple, isn't it?

The Cortes disapproves the omnipresent priestly garb and says it is an old Spanish costume that must go.

American women buy 1,000,000 pairs of silk stockings every day. It's the one line that never fails to have a run.

Former Senator France is getting more rabid every day because no one takes his diatribes against the Government any more seriously than they do his candidacy for the Presidency.

A little water cure goes a long way with Mayor Walker and besides Paris is only a short way off.

We are constrained to wireless Sir Hubert to give that Nautilus motor a right good tinkering before it dives under the polar ice cap.

It is impossible to tell how many Federal relief measures would be under consideration if Congress were in session, as it is not known how many of the 531 members have more than two bills ready to introduce.

If Gov. Roosevelt feels snubbed by the President's brief silence what must he suffer from the protracted taciturnity of his friend Al?

Gov. Pinchot says Pennsylvania State relief is hampered and hamstrung by constitutional limitations. Does it prohibit him from heading a relief organization among his 10,000,000 constituents to feed those starving miners' children?

You're mistaken. The northern third of China's population, where there is greatest distress, eats wheat regularly—when it is available.

JUST FOLKS

PURPOSE.

Out in the country miles away
From teeming throngs and clanging bells
Within a farm house beaten gray
A very lonely woman dwells.

The spot is desolate and bleak,
Exhausted soil lies all about,
Yet day by day and week by week
She labors there with courage stout.

The struggling flowers that come to bloom
Seem undernourished, as does she
As if for them life had no room
To spare where they could happier be.

Without complaint, the neighbors say,
But with a certain touch of grace
And thought for all who pass her way
This toil-worn woman keeps her place.

'Tis told of her, when one inquired
How she could stand a life so drear
She smiled and said: "When I grow tired
I always think God needs me here."

If the Wheels Don't Turn, You Must Blame the Man Who Controls the Power

By ROBERT QUILLEN

LET THE experts explain, discuss and analyze as they will, the simple fact remains that money makes the times.

When money is plentiful, times are good; when money is scarce, times are bad.

If you wish to know why business is dull, call on your banker and ask for a loan.

He will be very sorry, but—well, in times like these—very necessary to restrict credit—the principles of sound banking—not advisable to encourage expansion—and so on till the cows come home.

But the long and short of it is that you don't get the loan.

The banks, you read in your newspaper, are now in excellent condition.

They are making few loans; they owe no money; they have big reserves.

The banks are playing safe because they are scared.

Because many banks went broke as a result of knavery, speculation, loans based on inflated values or some other kind of bad banking, the banks that survived are playing safe.

They aren't making any money, for their funds—the money belonging to their depositors—are invested in bonds or lying idle in the vaults.

That money is the life blood of business.

So long as it remains out of circulation, times will be dull.

By placing it in circulation, the banks could make times good within a month.

But the banks won't take a chance—unless they are forced to do it.

How can they be forced?

Do you know the power of the Federal Reserve Bank System?

When it decided the crazy bull market had lasted long enough, it raised the interest rate to lessen the profit of speculation and the boom collapsed.

It has power to make or break.

With 40 per cent of the world's gold in reserve, it can flood the land with money overnight.

It can make money a burden and a nuisance, so that every bank in the land, gorged with idle and unprofitable cash, will make loans to Tom, Dick and Harry in plain self-defense.

Every banker in the land knows it can be done.

The Federal Reserve System was designed to serve the country in time of stress.

Why doesn't it saw wood?

PRO AND CON

No Policy But Opposition.

Louisville Courier-Journal (Dem.).

Just why is the Democratic National Committee excited about what President Hoover proposes to do about unemployment next winter? Why is it calling upon him, through the the chairman of its executive committee, Jouett Shouse, to reveal the exact details of his reported plan to deal with that problem? "What the country is entitled to from the President," says Mr. Shouse, "is some positive action and less theoretical investigation."

Is it the contention of Mr. Shouse and his committees that the President should take "positive action" to abolish unemployment—that he can and should do more to that end than he has already done?

If so, Mr. Shouse and his Democratic colleagues should reveal just what action they think the President should take; just what action they would take if they were in control of the Government. Now that the committee has publicly put forward the unemployment problem, it is pertinent to inquire what it proposes that the Democratic party shall do about it should it succeed in turning Mr. Hoover out of the White House. So far it has never disclosed what policy it would substitute for the Hoover policy. Has it any policy, except to oppose the Hoover policy, whatever that is or may be?

Mr. Hoover, at least, has categorically declared his opposition to the paternalism of the dole. Do Mr. Shouse and his committee associates stand with the President on that, or do they stand with the frantic clamorers for the appropriation of uncollected billions of dollars to enable the Government to take care of everybody that may look to the Government to take care of him?

Pinchot Pleads Poverty.

Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Following the White House denial on Tuesday that there is any intention of calling a special session of Congress to deal with the relief problem, Gov. Pinchot yesterday sent a letter to President Hoover urging that he issue such a call and painting the situation in Pennsylvania in the darkest colors. According to Mr. Pinchot, this State, with its wealth of resources, will be unable to care for the hungry and destitute during next winter and will be compelled to rely upon assistance from the Federal Government.

Regardless of the political implications, such a plea is unworthy of the governor of this great State. But when those plain implications are considered, his extraordinary action is all the more to be condemned. This is no time to mince words in discussing the governor's proposal. Every one knows the part that politics is playing in the pressure that has been brought upon President Hoover to call a special session. Behind this movement are the Western Republican insurgents, ever intent on embarrassing the administration and eager now to press their radical, extravagant and unwise proposals for relief. Gov. Pinchot, a potential candidate for President, is falling in with their game, although he must have known when he wrote this letter that it could not change Mr. Hoover's position, which he has just felt called upon to restate.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Armaments and Prosperity Go Hand in Hand, Says Correspondent, Who Urges Government to Prepare for Adequate National Defense.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In these days, when we hear so much talk about the ruinous cost, and dangerous effects of armaments, one might suppose that large armaments were a direct menace to prosperity. Looking backward over the pages of history, however, we find the opposite to be the case. Since the days of the Roman Empire, and before, countries have been great and prosperous when their armaments were strong. Spain and France have been prosperous when they possessed powerful armaments. Germany was prosperous when she had a powerful army and navy. Britain was great and prosperous when she had an adequate army and the strongest navy. France today is the most prosperous and well balanced country, and has the most effective armament.

Perhaps the United States has been an exception to this rule. If so, we find the causes for it in certain peculiar circumstances. This country has a favorable situation, far from other powerful nations; it has large territories and vast natural resources; our inhabitants have been a virile, progressive, adaptable, energetic people, and capable of assimilating large numbers of immigrants. These causes do not now hold good as in the past. Science and economic conditions have taken away much of our isolation. Our resources have been wasted, overinflated and misapplied. Our citizens—since we have heard so much about high standards of living—have lost their mettle and become morally, intellectually and physically flabby.

Twice only in our history have we had what might be called powerful armaments—at the end of the Civil War and at the end of the World War. If we had had adequate armament before these wars, what an enormous saving of lives and money there would have been! It has not been the cost of maintaining our Army and Navy that has caused such huge expenditures of Government money. It has been because of not maintaining them properly, so that when the need for them has come, we have been unprepared.

Today, when the most casual survey of affairs shows ominous threats to peace from all quarters of the globe, we cut our Army and Navy to the bone. Today, when our country is heavily in debt, our business, employment and criminal conditions deplorable, for the sake of saving a few miserable dollars we would dispense with that security which is the foundation of peace and prosperity.

Instead of being curtailed our Army, Navy and air forces should be kept up to the limit allowed by law and treaty, efficient to meet any needs. This would afford many jobs for the unemployed, stimulate industry, put more money in circulation, and afford us that insurance and security without which true peace and prosperity are impossible.

Let us remember the words of our first President: "To be prepared for war is one of the most effectual means of preserving peace." This should be our national policy, and kept constantly in view. If we do not follow it, our country will become like a huge jelly fish; we will sell our birthright for a mess of pottage; we will sacrifice guarantees of real peace and prosperity, and we will invite disaster. TREAD WELL.

New Emergency Hospitals Will Be Needed, Pedestrian Warns, If Traffic Signals Are Removed.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: All praise to The Post and its correspondents for their defense of the traffic lights. These lights are the last stand of the pedestrian. The dangers of the streets are bad enough as things are. To remove any safeguards would be insanity.

Most motorists regard all pedestrians contemptuously as "jay-walkers." I am frequently cut off in going from the curb to a street car platform by some arrogant automobilist, even when the lights are in my favor. This means a wait of sometimes seven minutes for a car.

There is a good opportunity for observation at Connecticut avenue and L street. At this intersection, for some reason known only to the mystics, no lights are installed, and it is one of the danger spots of the city.

If it is seriously intended to remove or substantially reduce traffic lights then I recommend, as an accompanying step, that branch emergency hospitals be provided at frequent points throughout the city.

A WALKING WASHINGTONIAN.

Emolas Demands That the State, War and Navy Building Be Preserved. Classic Architecture Termed Ugly.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I certainly agree with your correspondent, Mr. F. S. Auguste, as to the shame of ruining that fine structure known as the State, War and Navy Building, by trying to make it conform to the so-called classic lines of the Treasury. The Treasury Building may be classic, but it is as ugly as mud. By a few minor changes the SWN can be made very handsome.

The classicists, who are merely copying Greek architecture to the point of monotony, make me hot under the collar. I sincerely hope the "dod-gasted," measly classicists will have an awfully tough job when they get to work on the SWN. They say it is the most substantial building in Washington. Furthermore, it was the first effort in this country to establish an American architecture. Correct some of its faults, but let it stand. It should make an impregnable State Department and presidential offices at small expense.

ARLINGTON REVOKES PERMIT ON BUILDING

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

With declaration that provisions of a permit issued to Max Bregman, of Washington, for erection of a building at intersection of Arlington avenue and Wilson boulevard have been violated, the permit was revoked yesterday by Robert H. Forman, zoning administrator, on approval of Commonwealth's Attorney William C. Gloth.

Mr. Forman, in a letter to Max Bregman which he made public yesterday, said:

"You are hereby notified that your building permit is revoked, and that no further construction on your premises at the corner of Arlington avenue and Wilson boulevard can be undertaken under the old permit.

"This action has been taken for the reason that a clause in the permit, indicating the project shall be completed within a reasonable time, has not been complied with."

Mr. Forman stated that prior to the issuance of the permit on July 21, complaints were expressed by residents of that section regarding the huge piles of brick and other second-hand building material on the premises.

Warrants for Bregman's arrest were issued but in defense he stated he was going to build and he was permitted to go ahead.

Viewing the premises yesterday, Mr. Forman stated that he could not understand need for a huge pile of rusty pipe and other parts of machinery for an apartment house called for by the permit.

Mr. Forman stated he is working with Attorney Gloth in preparation of a special ordinance to take care of such conditions prior to adoption of a building code for the county and that he hopes some means may result which will force Mr. Bregman to remove his huge piles of second-hand building material.

Mrs. Elinor S. Kozel, whose home faces the Bregman property, said yesterday that on many occasions she had notified county authorities material was being piled on the lot, which, she claimed, affected adjoining property.

Turtles Are Raced By Kiwanis Clubs

Combined Meeting at Braddock Heights Raises Fund for Charity.

Ed Hill's "Sweeping Light," high-powered turtle, entered in the turtle race at an outdoor meeting of the Kiwanis clubs of Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia and the District at Braddock Heights, Md., yesterday came out with honors and paid 10 to 1 under the loud cheering of more than 300 persons and the coaching of the proud owner.

"Salamander Sal," owned by Harry C. Schroeder, president of the Frederick club, came out with second honors. Following the race the turtles were sold for the benefit of the crippled children cared for by the Hyattsville and Frederick clubs.

Following the race there was a chicken dinner and a demonstration with electricity staged by George T. Twyford, of the Hagerstown Edison Electric Co. The Rev. F. Barry Plummer gave a short talk on "Good Fellowship." At a later hour last night members who had placed bets on the turtles during the afternoon were tried for violating Maryland gambling rules and heavily fined, the fines likewise going to a charitable cause.

Hog Farm Garbage Feeding Is Attacked

At a special meeting of the Pomona Grange of Fairfax County, called to consider ways and means of eliminating the practice of garbage feeding on hog farms in the county, a committee was appointed to bring the matter before the county board of supervisors and the Commonwealth's attorney. J. W. Gaines, William Cleveland and A. H. Holland comprise the committee selected.

Many of those at the meeting asserted that streams and wells in the county were in danger of becoming contaminated by their proximity to hog farms. It developed that there are about 50 such farms in the county, many of which are located between Baileys Cross Roads and Seminary.

Virginia Veteran Loans Reach $9,594,841.39

Richmond, Va., Aug. 20 (A.P.).—World War veterans in Virginia, exclusive of those in the counties adjacent to Washington, have borrowed $9,594,841.39 under the amended adjusted compensation act, Veterans Administration reports reveal.

The loans, all through the Richmond regional office, were made to 26,453 veterans. Of the 56 regional offices handling adjusted compensation loans, the Richmond office ranked twenty-eighth in total loans, while it was twenty-ninth in the number of veterans receiving loans.

Arlington Legion Post Backs Leesburg Man

The Arlington Post, No. 139, American Legion, at its meeting held in Ballston last night, unanimously indorsed Harry Breckinbridge, of Leesburg, Va., State vice commander from the Eighth District, for the office of commander of the Virginia Department, American Legion, at the annual convention to be held at Clifton Forge, Va., next week.

A delegation numbering 51 members will represent Arlington County at the four-day meeting. They will leave early Monday.

Thirty-eighth Candidate Files for County Office

Harry M. Miller, of Waverly Hills, Arlington County, a lifelong resident of the county, yesterday filed his intentions with the county clerk to become a candidate for one of the five seats on the county board which, on and after January 1, 1932, replaces the present three members of the county board of supervisors, in accordance with the new form of county government.

Mr. Miller is the thirty-eighth person to announce his candidacy for this office.

Rain Cuts Fair Attendance; Cats and Cattle Are Judged

Heavy Downpour in Upper Portion of County Keeps Many Away; Jockey, Hurt at Barrier, Returns to Watch Program of Races.

Rain yesterday spoiled the bright prospects for a successful concluding day for the Rockville Fair. The rain did not actually fall at the fairgrounds in Rockville until night but heavy rains in the upper portions of the county kept away many who had planned to attend yesterday.

The six running races were slightly marred at the beginning by an accident to one of the jockeys, John Monahan, riding as John Callahan, who was up on Queen Tex, as the first race was preparing to start. While the horses were nosing up to the barrier, the horse gave a sudden jolt and strained the barrier so that the iron support pole was snapped off and struck Callahan on the head. He was treated at the Red Cross for concussion of the brain and when he failed to respond, was placed in the ambulance of Warner E. Pumphrey, Rockville undertaker, to be taken to Montgomery County General Hospital at Sandy Spring. On the way to the hospital, he regained consciousness and insisted upon being returned to the fairgrounds, where he watched the races. His injuries were not believed serious.

One of the chief features of the fair yesterday, in addition to the horse races, was a terrapin race, which was won by Home Brew, belonging to the stables of Mrs. James D. King, of Germantown, who nosed out his opponents in a thrilling inch-a-minute finish.

The second championship cat show of the Columbia Cat Fanciers of Washington, drew a good crowd yesterday. Cats of all descriptions vied for ribbons and cups. Kopper Kettle Kirchee, the red tabby female entry of Arch E. Horne, of Ridgefield, Conn., was adjudged the best cat in the show.

They are Charles H. McKinney, of Harrisonburg, a vice commander, and former commander of Williams Post in Clifton Forge; Sam Heller, of Norfolk, head of the 40 and 8 in Virginia, and M. E. Legionnaires of the State are expected to bring their families and friends to the convention, which is to be continued through Wednesday of next week.

Two Men Are Injured By Bull in Fairfax

Two men were injured yesterday by a maddened bull at the E. E. Ruppert Farm on Colsville pike near White Oak. The bull had been tied up in the barn. He managed to get loose yesterday, and when William O. Talbott, 53, an employe of the farm, went into the barn he was attacked. Talbot was gored and is in a serious condition at the Georgetown University Hospital.

Later, while he was aiding several men in an attempt to subdue the bull, Roger Knight, 35 years old, also was hurt. He was treated by a nearby physician and returned home.

Doctor Is Drowned At Virginia Beach

Dr. R. C. Sink, Visiting From Winston-Salem, Is Week's Second Victim.

Virginia Beach, Va., Aug. 20.—This beach registered its second drowning of the week today when Dr. R. C. Sink, 28 years old, of Winston-Salem, N. C., was pulled unconscious from the water by a fellow bather. Coast Guard workers fought futilely for an hour and a half to revive Dr. Sink.

The drowning today occurred at 6 p. m., just before a terrific storm broke over the beach. The other drowning occurred Tuesday, when John Ball, 17 years old, of Corbin, Ky., lost his life. Dr. Sink was staying at Ocean Park, during a vacation, with his father, J. W. Sink, and his cousin, B. F. Sink.

Young Ball was visiting Virginia Beach with his father, Oscar Ball, and two brothers, Hugh, 22, and William, 27. The party was on the way to Washington from Corbin, but decided to stop over one day at the beach. The youth would have graduated at the University of Kentucky this year.

The child was taken to the Alexandria Hospital, where she received treatment later being taken home. Dix took the child to the hospital.

FAIRFAX LOSES HOPE OF WIDENING STREET

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Fairfax 166.

The cut-off around the town of Fairfax is to be built this fall by the Virginia State Highway Commission and Mayor Thomas P. Chapman and members of the town council have been advised by Chairman H. G. Shirley, of State Commission, that $85,000 has been allotted to the 2.8-mile project, construction to be started in the near future.

This brings to an end the movement to widen the main street of the town. The State had proposed to widen the street provided the town contributed $5,000 which was raised by private subscription. Several citizens of the town filed protest with the State officials and preliminary work on the street was suspended. Town officials made a trip to Richmond last week endeavoring to have the work continued. The county Board of Supervisors indorsed the street widening prior to having the cut-off built, in view of the bicentennial celebration next year. It was stated yesterday that all hope of State contribution to the project was passed.

It has not been definitely settled as to the route the cut-off will take, but it is believed that it will be continued on a straight line from the junction of the Lee highway and the Lee-Jackson highway at the Black Lantern Inn, about a mile west of Fairfax, through the property of Dr. F. W. Huddleson and the county fair grounds, crossing the Chain Bridge road at Wiley Station and continuing to the Lee highway about 2 miles east of town.

Citizens of Fairfax pointed out yesterday, however, that the State might experience difficulty in obtaining the necessary right of way through the county fair grounds. Although the directors of the fair association had voted to grant the State a right of way, the National Bank of Fairfax holds a first trust deed against the property, and it is questionable whether it would release any portion of it for the roadway.

The primary and junior departments of the Sunday school of the Presbyterian Church at Falls Church will be given a cafeteria supper this evening on the church lawn by the teachers of the two departments. Mrs. Marshall T. Boone and Mrs. J. O. Belz have charge of the arrangements.

The Lee District Improvement Association will hold its August meeting tonight at 8:30 o'clock in the Community Hall at Burke Station. The association is making a drive to increase its membership, and Secretary J. Cranford has secured several speakers to address the meeting concerning roads and other improvements.

Thomas R. Keith has resigned as president of the Fairfax Rotary Club on account of ill health, and the Rev. Herbert Donovan has been elected to the vacancy. John W. Rust, Democratic nominee for State senator, has been elected as a director of the club. Mr. Keith was the first president of the Fairfax Club, which was formed last spring.

Engineers Will Confer On Arlington Sewer Plan

With the view of perfecting a program for a county-wide sewerage system, A. L. Kelley, chairman of the sanitation committee of the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce, yesterday announced that Allen J. Saville and Lee H. Williamson, consulting engineers of Richmond, have been invited to discuss the matter with the committee.

The purpose of the committee making this study at this time, Mr. Kelley stated, is to have the Chamber of Commerce in a position to present the matter to the new county board early in the new year.

Rianos Coming To Be Guests of Envoy Espil

Both Are Now Much Made of by Society in Newport.

With the summer season reaching its zenith, society continues to come and go from Newport, the mecca of the fashionable world of the East. Capt. Luigi Notarbartolo di Villarosa, Naval Attache of the Italian Embassy, will arrive there today to visit the Naval War College, and will be a guest at the Viking.

The Rianos had opportunity to renew their friendship with Argentina's envoy when he was in Newport recenttly to act as best man at the Quinby-Traverso wedding.

Mrs. Riano visited Washington in the spring, the guest of her sister, Mrs. Chandler P. Anderson. Through her connections with diplomatic as well as residential society here, Mme. Culbertson on Contract

PROGRESSIVE CONTRACT BRIDGE.

Since I started this series of articles I have had numerous requests for an article dealing with the play of Progressive Contract Bridge.

This is a form of the game with which I am not especially familiar through practice, but the rules laid down below will be found to cover the different questions which arise during a Bridge party.

To answer those who say that Contract Bridge will never replace Auction because it can not be played progressively at afternoon Bridge parties I will give, briefly, the popular method of scoring and play.

From letters received and general comment, it is evident that many Contract players are unfamiliar with rules in force governing Progressive Contract. Couched in the usual formal language, the laws permit of several choices on points of minor importance. The methods suggested here are the most popular by usage.

Tally cards assign partners and tables. Each tally should have two columns; one headed, "My Score," the other, "Opponent's Score." A round consists of four deals, as in Auction. At the end of the round the scores are totaled and the loser's score subtracted from the winner's, and a bonus of 250 points given to the winning side. In the event of a tie, each side is given 125 points. If this is the case, the actual score for the play would be naught for both sides, but the tally card would show the bonus of 125 points.

Should a hand be passed, the same Dealer must re-deal with the same cards after they have been shuffled by the player on the Dealer's left and cut by the player on the Dealer's right.

It is customary to arbitrarily decide, before play begins, that the first deal will be played and all scores counted as if neither side is vulnerable; the second and third deals played and scored as if the Dealer and partner are vulnerable and the opponents not vulnerable. As the deal rotates, the fourth deal is played and scored as if both sides are vulnerable.

Usage requires "game in hand," as in Progressive Auction. The side making game scores 300 points if not vulnerable and 500 if vulnerable.

To illustrate the scoring:

First deal—Partner, North, you, South, bid and make three hearts.

Second deal—Opponent, East, bids four spades and is set 1 trick, doubled, vulnerable.

Third deal—You, South, bid four spades and make five with your honors in hand, vulnerable.

The score pad would show:

We		They
90—three hearts
200—set of four spades
120—four spades
50—extra trick
100—honors
500—game bonus, vulnerable
	six diamonds—	120
	game bonus, vulnerable—	500
	Slam bonus, vulnerable—	750
1060	(totals)	1370
		1060
(net)		310
Winner's bonus		250
Total		560

Your tally would then read:

My score	Opponent's score
0	560

At the end of play, the difference between the two columns is your score for the day.

All of the additional lure that Contract holds over Auction is reflected in Progressive play. I was greatly surprised to learn that many who play only at afternoon parties felt that Contract couldn't be adopted to progression, and it is for this reason that I have given the plan most prevalent throughout the country today.

TODAY'S POINTER.

The Value of the Average Hand in Tricks.

In each suit an Ace, a King, a Queen and a Knave, or one-fourth of total higher honors, is the average share of each player before the hands are seen. Such an average hand is worth 1 trick for the Ace and 1 trick for the King and Queen in different suits with a Knave as a "plus" value making in all 2 honor tricks plus a Knave—which is the working equivalent of the average hand in terms of honor-tricks. This basic assumption furnishes the player with a simple yardstick to measure the relative honor strength of any hand and, through honor-tricks, assists materially in estimating the game or penalty expectancy of any bid.

Jane Corbin INTERPRETS the MODE

New York, Aug. 20.

HERE it is Busy Little Housewives' day again, and sure enough another letter from sister Dionne, whose home and children are as bee-youtiful and well-kept and pleasant as she is. You see, she has all the tricks of the interesting trade of housekeeping—which occupation seems to be fuller of tricks than almost any other we know of —'n' if you see her you'd realize how much "knowing how" to keep house helps.

Dionne writes: "I budget my time just as carefully as I budget my money. There's just no sense in having a lot of little tasks kicking around for days and days, piling up more and more disagreeable aspects, when by a little careful management I can give them a special time and get through them on schedule. The children, even down to L'le Lovebug, know when I start in on any task that they can't help with, that they'd better stay out from under foot until it's finished. Then we all play!

And one little job that I'm starting in with now is to get all the kiddies' clothes ready for school. It isn't as hard as it sounds, now that I have decided on light weight wool crepe as the ideal fabric for school things, and while I still have plenty of time to add all of the little details that make their things so attractive. And after they are over with, I shall turn my comparatively quiet days into sewing hours for me, myself and I—for a housewife needs lots more things than house dresses, doesn't she?"

• • • •

The Beauty Sorceress.

"Why does the ice do all these wonderful things to your complexion, grandmother?"

"Because it's applied with skill and knowledge, my dear! It's rubbed on hard, and always in an upward-and-outward direction."

• • • •

Just as tailored as it can be, and therefore decidedly smart, is Lyolene's suit that I illustrate today, of brown jersey. Isn't the jacket unusual and striking with its notched lapels, its four pockets and its seamless shoulders that extend 'way down to the elbows without a break? The skirt, slightly flaring at the bottom, emphasizes this flare with rows and rows of brown silk stitching.

And the blouse to this suit is of yellow shantung, in a double-breasted vestee effect. The wide lapels are worn outside the coat collar, and button down in a double-breasted effect with brown galalith buttons.

• • • •

For days-about-town and for rambles-in-the-autumn woods you're going to need a tailored suit. And the tailorder the better, if you see what I mean!

• • • •

Maybe you've studied French in high school and college, and are able to read the classics without any trouble at all, and still can't quite understand what people are driving at when they toss off some French fashion phrase. Don't worry—your own Dah-ray has prepared a special leaflet for you this week giving the most fascinating French lesson, all about how to spell and pronounce the important couturieres, and how to spell and pronounce fashion terms, and complete definitions. How about sending that stamped, self-addressed envelope right off to the Dare department of The Washington Post for the Fashion French lesson that will give you in five minutes the knowledge that you can't get anywhere else!

And there's Dare's weekly fashion letter. Read it in The Sunday Post.

Indoor and Outdoor Gardens

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

COTONEASTERS FOR WINTER EFFECTS.

COTONEASTERS are always decorative, but in the fall and early winter we are particularly grateful for their scarlet fruit and evergreen foliage. In June the plants are covered with a mass of small, deep pink flowers, which we are apt to overlook, not because they are not attractive, but because in the first month of summer we have such a wealth of color all over the garden.

In the fall, when the crimson tints and tones begin to fade and the landscape takes on a more somber mien, we are attracted by the bright, scarlet, egg-shaped fruit, each about one-third of an inch long. These wee berries hang on the bare branches all winter and not only add a bit of color to the garden but provide food for our feathered friends as well.

All cotoneasters are not reliably hardy. So, if you are one of the people who add to your garden family while motoring about the country be sure to explain to the nurseryman with whom you place your order the kind of a winter you are likely to have.

The spreading cotoneasters is absolutely hardy. This variety is very showy, of upright habits, sometimes attaining a height of 5 or 6 feet, with wide-spreading branches and well worthy of a place of prominence in any foundation planting scheme or even single group arrangement.

There are many varieties of cotoneasters, but in most cases the dwarf kinds are always evergreen or at least nearly so. These low-growing bushes are the varieties that are so popular for rock garden use. While as a class cotoneasters grow well in almost any soil, they usually abhor deep shade and refuse to grow in ground that is not well drained. The first season any variety should be kept well watered. They must never be permitted to go into the winter with dry roots.

Of late people are finding out how desirable the cotoneasters are for hedge use. They make a most beautiful thick hedge.

Since the introduction of some of the newer Chinese varieties there is a renewed interest in this family which is very gratifying. If you do not know the cotoneasters ask your nearest nurseryman to show them to you.

All readers' questions on growing and care of indoor and outdoor flowers and floral decorations for social functions will be answered by Miss Kift, directly in this column if addressed in care of The Washington Post, or directly to readers if a self-addressed stamped envelope is supplied.

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

"LEO."

IF August 21st is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8:30 a. m. to 10 a. m., from 3 p. m. to 4:15 p. m., and 10:30 p. m. to midnight. The danger periods are from noon to 2 p. m. and 6:30 p. m. to 8 p. m.

From a business point of view all will be well August 21st, if speculative investments are avoided. There will be large turnovers, and working conditions will be unusually congenial. Young people will come under seductive influences, and may form some harmful friendships.

The child born on this August 21st will have a quiet, unimpulsive and unobtrusive nature. It will not be easily thwarted in its aims. It will be sociable and of a good disposition.

If born on August 21st it is indicated that you are an individual who is fond of ease and comfort. You are greatly influenced by your surroundings, and are very sensitive to outside influences. You very readily fall in with the ways and methods of others, adopting their suggestions, their prejudices, joys and sorrows.

You work better under the direction of some one else, as you are afraid of solo responsibilities. You always feel as though you must have a prop, no matter how flimsy or useless it may be in reality. You are a clever imitator in your work, and a clever mimic in your actions or conversation.

You have never taken the trouble to cultivate your individuality. Down deep in your heart you have decided likes and dislikes, but in travelling the road of least resistance, you seldom give them an airing. You have the capacity of making friends, but they are usually in your same station of life, or those who are like you in character, or who have similar tastes. Rubbing elbows with people who live on other planes, who think other thoughts, would widen your horizon.

If you marry some one with ambition and push, you will either pull yourself out of your groove, and try to keep step with your mate or your contentment will be upset by nagging, and you will swell the ranks of those who are unhappily married.

Man Accused of Theft From Funds for Needy

Detroit, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Charged by Prosecutor Harry S. Toy, with obtaining several thousand dollars' worth of fake grocery orders from the Public Welfare Department, George Asmar, said to have posed as the head of a Syrian relief society, was arrested today.

Prosecutor Toy said that an audit of the Welfare Department's books showed that Asmar converted several thousand dollars from the department's funds by obtaining emergency relief grocery orders worth $2 apiece for "needy Syrian families." He said the groceries never were delivered.

Man Without Country On Fourth Trip Across

Baltimore, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Peter Russell, a man without a country, began his fourth trip under guard across the Atlantic today.

Aboard the freight steamer Artigas, to which he was transferred under guard last week, Russell started for Glasgow, Scotland, in confinement below decks. Glasgow, Federal immigration officials said, is one of the several cities which Russell has at various times claimed as his place of birth.

JAPANESE BELIEVED THROWN INTO OCEAN

U. S. Claims Jurisdiction as Two Other Governments Move in Man's Death.

New York, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Federal investigators announced today their conviction that Hisashi Fujimura, wealthy Japanese importer, who was missing when the liner Belgenland docked here Friday morning, had been thrown into the sea.

They expressed confidence they will get clues as to who was responsible for the killing when the Belgenland returns tomorrow from another cruise.

Members of the crew will be questioned and the radio operator will be ordered to produce his file of messages sent and received by the missing man.

Assistant District Attorney Lumbard tonight announced he would question Jan Ribas, an artist, who made the cruise on the Belgenland, to draw sketches of passengers.

Miss Mary Reissner, former show girl, who was traveling as a guest of Fujimura, told officials that when a steward rapped on the importer's door, as the ship neared New York, she heard Ribas say Fujimura was missing. The assistant district attorney said no suspicion was attached to the artist, however, since his business made it necessary for him to call on passengers in their staterooms and he may have discovered the absence of the importer when he received no reply to his knock on the door.

Three Agents Assigned.

The Department of Justice today assigned three of its agents to aid in an attempt to solve the mystery.

Although interest in the investigation has been expressed by two other governments, the Japanese and the British, the United States Attorney's office here claimed jurisdiction in the case.

It was contended the inquiry was being conducted on the supposition a homicide had occurred and that the Belgenland was being operated by American agents for a British steamship company.

The case will go to the grand jury Monday when Miss Reissner, who accompanied Fujimur and his little daughter on the six-day cruise to Halifax, will be questioned again.

Denies She Was Governess.

Last night the young woman, once a chorus girl, spent six hours in the office of Assistant United States Attorney Lumbard sobbing out her story.

She denied she had gone on the trip as governess for the child.

"We had a suite," she said. "He and his daughter had one room. I had an adjoining room. We quarrelled the night he disappeared. He didn't want me to go to a party in the ship's salon."

The party was in charge of Mrs. Mildred Harris Chaplin, ship's hostess, who told investigators she knew Miss Reissner only casually.

The former actress said she went to the party in spite of the importer's objections and when she returned went directly to bed. It was the next morning when she learned he had vanished, she said.

Tobacco Cooperative Committee to Meet

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 20 (A.P.).—The four-State tobacco committee, formed here ten days ago to take steps to form Tobacco Cooperative Marketing Associations and to promote emergency aid in handling the 1931 crop, will meet here Saturday.

Dr. Clarence Poe, agricultural leader and editor, said today that he expected all committee members from North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, and Virginia to attend.

Toledo Banks Given Chance to Reorganize

Toledo, Ohio, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Toledo banks which failed to open their doors Monday will be given an opportunity to reorganize, it was announced today by Theodore N. Tangeman, State director of commerce.

Until the feasability of reorganization is determined, the State will not attempt to liquidate the affairs of the banks, four of which have a total of about $80,000,000 in deposits, Tangeman said.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With DON B. REED

BEGINNING at about noon today and continuing until late Sunday night, those in charge of the local Fox Theater probably will be busier than they have been in a long, long time, but since they arranged the schedule themselves, they can hardly expect sympathy.

First of all, it will be quite a job to get that all-Washington revue under way, what with first appearances for many of the principals and members of the chorus. Then tomorrow morning is the first meeting of the Fox Military Band, with indications that the group of boys and girls responding will be large enough to give the Fox management plenty to do in caring for them.

A preview screening of "Bad Girl" is scheduled for Sunday noon, at which the press and a few invited guests will be present, after which there will be nothing to do except handle the usual Sunday crowds. This is one time I'd rather be on the sidelines than in the game.

Al Mitchell is quietly but efficiently building up a following for himself as leader of the Fox Orchestra. I remember when Al was master of ceremonies at Shea's Buffalo Theater, in Buffalo, N. Y., and led the stage band. He was immensely popular there and is rapidly gaining favor here. His announcements, locally, have been short and to the point, a considerable advantage to the patron of the theater over some of the long-winded introductions by visiting celebrities.

An announcement from the National Theater offices tells of the possibility of "The Admirable Crichton," starring Walter Hampden and Fay Bainter, appearing at the E street playhouse for five days from October 6 to October 10. With Effie Shannon and Sydney Greenstreet reengaged as members of the cast, the piece is scheduled for sixteen weeks on the road under the management of George C. Tyler and the Erlanger Productions, Inc. It will open at Reading, Pa., September 28. This Barrie masterpiece enjoyed much success last season upon its revival in New York, Philadelphia and Boston and the producers look for consistent business on the road this season.

If I can escape from the office at a reasonable hour I hope to join a bunch of the boys who perhaps at this writing are beginning to whoop it up at the Occidental, where a supper party is being held to honor Mike Cullen. The Loew district manager leaves today for a similar assignment in Pittsburgh and the party, therefore, was moved up to last night instead of tonight, as originally scheduled. If Mike had anything to do with altering the date of the party, he's a smart fellow. And if I don't get there, heigh ho, Mike and Hazelle. I'll be seeing you.

While on the subject of Loew's, Jim Lundy, the irrepressible tom-tom beater for the Palace and Columbia, called to say that the appearance of Polly Moran at the Palace the week of August 29 will be an event of major importance. Jim is planning a round of entertainment for the screen comedienne, and he also hopes to get Polly to give the local photographers a few of her funniest poses. I'm shedding tears for you, Jim. Those actresses are so hard to get into pictures.

Last night marked the last appearance of Bob Hamilton at the console of the Fox organ, for the time being, at least. After eighteen weeks of presenting extremely popular organlogues in the Capital, Bob left early this morning for New York to confer with home office officials about a new assignment. He has expressed the hope that he will soon play a return engagement at the Fox, and wants all Washington to know that he has appreciated the reception given his efforts. I'll be a master of ceremonies yet, making such speeches. But that's exactly what Bob told me over the telephone just before he left.

The latest batch of mail from New York and Hollywood reveals the following interesting data concerning new pictures in the making or to be made. Fred Warren, who had a role in "Abraham Lincoln," will play the part of Gen. Grant in "Secret Service," starring Richard Dix; six of Seth Parker's radio cast of singers are in the cast of "Other People's Business," his first film venture; Lawrence Tibbett will make "The Cuban" for M-G-M, aided by Ernest Torrence and Cliff Edwards; Zasu Pitts and Thelma Todd are making more comedies and the next Laurel-Hardy laugh producer will be a Foreign Legion affair called "Beau Hunks."

Cowboy chaps and doughboy uniform are being used by John Gilbert in "West of Broadway," and it was as a cowboy with William S. Hart that Jack got his start while his greatest triumph was as a soldier in "The Big Parade." Which may mean something or may not. John Miljan has gone into business as the manufacturer of a "gas turbine," or new type of motor for autos and airplanes. Hell seems to crop into the titles with great frequency of late for M-G-M's latest is "Hell Divers," in which 180 planes in formation are a feature. Joe E. Brown's next will be "Local Boy Makes Good," from "The Poor Nut," a Broadway success.

So "The Smiling Lieutenant," who is also "The Public Defender," walked up to the box office in "Silence" and "Bought" a ticket for "The Brat."

Witnesses Called For Bishop's Quiz

Two Men and Woman Added to List to Take Stand at Funds Inquiry.

(Associated Press.)

Three additional witnesses were served with subpoenas yesterday from the Senate compaign funds committee in its inquiry into the use of campaign funds by Bishop James Cannon in 1928.

Miss Ada L. Eurroughs, of Richmond, Va., who previously refused to answer questions of the committee about her activities as treasurer of the Virginia anti-Smith committee, was summoned again.

C. Bascom Slemp, Virginia Republican leader and former Secretary to President Coolidge, called at the office of the Senate sergeant-at-arms to receive a subpoena when he read that the committee intended to call him. Just why Mr. Slemp is being called was not disclosed by the committee.

Eugene L. Crawford, general secretary of the board of temperance of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, also was served with a subpoena.

The Senate investigators will resume the Cannon inquiry next week.

One Killed 2 Injured As Plane Falls to River

Fabyan, N. H., Aug. 20 (A.P.).—One man was killed and the pilot and another man were seriously injured in an airplane crash here in the White Mountains late today.

Gordon Davidson, pilot, had taken up his plane from Fabyan Airport and was making a bank when the craft got out of control and plunged into the shallow Ammonuosus River. Witnesses of the accident pulled out R. A. Beebe, of New York city and Walter Panasci, of Brooklyn, N. Y., tourists, and the pilot. Beebe was dead.

Zachary Taylor Estate To Be Site of Seminary

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Part of the estate on which President Zachary Taylor once resided has been selected as the site for a $1,000,000 Catholic seminary.

Announcement of the purchase of the plot, a few miles from the center of Louisville, was made here today by the Right Rev. John A. Floersch, Bishop of Louisville. The site contains 315 acres and cost $165,000.

Officials Asked to Give Part of Pay for Jobless

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Municipal plans to relieve unemployment were enlarged today with the announcement by Mayor Howard W. Jackson, that city officials and employes with the exception of police, firemen and teachers, would be expected to contribute one day's pay a month.

The contributions of one day's pay are to go to a fund to pay emergency workers to be recruited from the unemployed. Those on present lists of eligibles for classified and labor jobs will be favored. City officials said today the plan probably will go into effect in the fall or early winter. On the municipal pay roll are approximately 11,800 persons.

Sinclair Oil Merger Action Faces Delay

New York, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Prospects of an immediate completion of the long discussed merger of Sinclair Consolidated Oil Co., and four other companies, including Tide Water Associated Oil Co., clouded somewhat today.

Axtell J. Byles, president of Tide Water Associated, in a statement, said that while appraisal of the properties had been going on for some time, no conclusions or agreement had been reached and the matter has not been submitted to the board of directors or any committee of the board for consideration.

Loeb, 'Thrill' Murderer, Made Prison Foreman

Chicago, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—The Daily News said today that Nathan Leopold, companion of Richard Loeb in the "thrill" slaying of Robert Franks in 1924, had been made a yard foreman in charge of 100 prisoners at the new State penitentiary at Stateville, where he is serving a life sentence.

The paper said that the post was regarded by the convicts as a "plum," and that Leopold will have an opportunity to see Loeb, also under life sentence, at intervals. Loeb is in charge of the prison's greenhouse and nursery and often visits the yard.

France Will Take Part In Chicago Exposition

Paris, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—The French cabinet decided today that France will be officially represented at the Chicago Exposition next June.

President Doumer presided at the session, which had been expected to discuss details of the Wiggin reparations report announced yesterday at Basel, but there was nothing in a laconic communique issued after the adjournment to indicate how the debate had progressed.

New Orleans residents spend nearly $25,000,000 annually outside the State of Louisiana for foodstuffs.

M'LARNIN BATTERS OUT DECISION OVER PETROLLE

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

THE unhappiest victim of sports legislation in recent years has been the football rule book and it is with distinct relief that this column notes from E. K. Hall's 1931 Guide that, aside from a clarification in the phraseology of several sections, only one major change has been effected in the rules.

The point after touchdown, buffeted about by the rules makers for the past ten years, has again been altered with an eye toward alleviating the penalty for offside play or any other foul that may occur. In this case it seems that the rules makers have acted wisely, which can not be said for a grist of other changes in the past several years.

The ball is still put into play on the two-yard line on the try for point after touchdown and the point may be made either by rushing, kicking or passing as has always been provided. The 1931 season, however, will see no more points granted or nullified by offside or other foul play which automatically decided for or against the offensive team regardless of the outcome of the scoring play.

No Automatic Point

The new rule provides that the penalty for a foul be enforced on the try for extra point exactly in the same manner that it would be enforced if the ball was in midfield during the course of a drive for a touchdown. Offside play by the offensive team, for example, would set the ball back on the seven-yard line. Last season, the offensive team would have automatically lost the point.

In an effort to balance, as they claim, the offense with the defense, the football rules committees in the last five years have made changes that have served chiefly to rob the game of its thrill for the spectators. Two of these changes were the removal of the goal posts from the goal line to a point ten yards back in the end zone, and the rule forbidding the offensive team to advance with a fumbled punt and a corollary of the rule forbidding a defensive team to advance with a recovered fumble of any description.

Field Goal Declines

No more can a courageous stand on the goal line be truthfully described as a gallant defense in the shadow of the goal posts—not with the goal posts ten yards out of the playing field. The setting back of the uprights has also cheated the spectator of the thrill of the drop kick and the placement kick which the teams are reluctant to try in the face of an added ten yards handicap.

The field goal and the recovered fumble held out to the under dog the two greatest opportunities to offset the superior brawn and brains of a rival eleven. Five years ago, no game was a foregone conclusion in the degree that it is now. There was always the possibility that anything might happen on a recovered fumble and an ensuing long run. Bill Roper's Princeton teams especially were the beneficiaries of the old rules. They placed a premium on the alertness of play that the new rule does not demand. Princeton teams were adept at the art of recovering loose balls and there is no more thrilling play to the grandstand. In their efforts to insure victory for the team with the sustained attack, the rules makers have robbed the game of much of its uncertainty and fascination.

Vines-Perry Finalists at Newport

Wood, Within Point of Defeat, Defaults to British Ace.

By BILL KING.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 20 (A.P.).—The most promising tennis players in England and the United States, Frederick J. Perry and Ellsworth Vines, today gained the final round of Newport Casino Tournament by upsetting members of American Davis Cup forces.

Perry, clashing with Sidney Wood, of New York, for the third time this season, wore that blonde stylist down to such an extent that he suffered a severe cramp in his left leg just when the Briton had match point in the twelfth game of fifth set. Perry had a 40-30 lead against service when Wood's leg folded under him.

Sidney was given first aid, but it failed to help matters.

Wood has suffered cramps many times in his brilliant career, generally when he has been overexerted, and he realized that it would respond only to a rubber's half-hour treatment.

Wood Wanted to Continue.

He wanted to play out the match but tournament officials defaulted him. Perry's scores for the completed sets were 6—3, 5—7, 2—6, 6—1. Vines also carried to five sets before eliminating stubborn Johnny Van Ryn, 6—3, 7—9, 3—6, 6—2, 6—1.

Johnny Doeg and George Lott, national doubles champions, played three matches to qualify for the semifinal. They were in grave danger from Berkley Bell and Gregory Mangin, but steadied down just in time to overcome a two-set lead for a 1—6, 6—8, 6—4, 6—3, 6—2 victory.

Vines and Gledhill, the California team that has dropped but one match so far this season—that to Van Ryn and Wilmer Allison at Seabright, N. J.—won two matches to qualify for the last four. Van Ryn and Allison, seeded fourth, were eliminated by Jack Tidball and Lester Stoeffen, of Los Angeles, 7—5, 2—6, 3—6, 6—4, 6—4.

Perry and Hughes Advance.

The British Davis Cup doubles pair, Perry and G. Patrick Hughes, who have high hopes of accomplishing something big during next week's national doubles play at Brookline, defeated J. Gilbert Hall, East Orange, N. J., and Eddie Feibleman, New York, to get into the third round.

They were late starting their quarter-finals match with Wood and Francis X. Shields, also a Davis Cup veteran, and darkness fell as they were about to go into the fifth set. The Americans won the first and third sets, 6—4 and 8—6, and the Britishers took the other two, 9—7 and 6—1. The deciding set will be played tomorrow morning and the winners will engage Doeg and Lott for a place in the finals.

Johnston, 1929 Champion, Rated No. 1 in Amateur Golf

Voigt Ranked Eighth Among Seeded Men in U. S. Tourney.

(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—The "seeding" list for the United States amateur golf championship, in effect an advance national ranking of the stars for 1931, today elevated Harrison R. (Jimmy) Johnston, of St. Paul, to the position of No. 1 man and, consequently, the official favorite for the title tournament at the Beverly Country Club, Chicago, starting August 31.

With Bobby Jones and George Von Elm no longer in the amateur ranks, Johnston received the top position from the United States Golf Association on the strength of being the latest of the available ex-champions. He held the amateur crown in 1929, but failed by a stroke to qualify for the defense of his title at Merion last year.

First Ten Are Enumerated.

1—Harrison R. Johnston, St. Paul.
3—T. Phillip Perkins, New York.
4—John Goodman, Omaha, Nebr.
6—Francis Ouimet, Boston.
7—Maurice J. McCarthy, jr., New York.
8—George J. Voigt, New York.
10—George T. Dunlap, jr., New York.

The surprises in this list, if any, may be the relatively high place accorded the veteran former champion, Ouimet, who has not come close to winning the amateur for years, and the low ranking conceded to such seasoned campaigners as George Voigt, and Dr. Willing. Voigt has slipped from the form that made him an outstanding contender two and three years ago, but Willing was a finalist in 1929. Ouimet was beaten in the first round last year.

JIMMY JOHNSTON

Homans Finalist Last Year.

Homans was a comedalist in 1929 and a finalist last year. Goodman has been up in the top flight ever since he gained prominence by beating Jones in the first round at Pebble Beach in 1929. Seaver and McCarthy, two of the younger crop, have been making steady strikes toward the top. Perkins, the former British amateur champion and runner-up to Jones in 1928, has earned his high rating.

Only eight players will be seeded for the first round of match play. If it is necessary to go outside the first ten to fill vacancies caused by withdrawals or qualifying failures, the following second ten will be subject to seeding, by lot:

Tribe Pounds Marberry to Win, 10-8

Nats Unable to Hold 4-Run Lead Off Harder in 4th.

(Cleveland Plain Dealer Staff Baseball Writer.)

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Aug. 20.—The rampant Cleveland Indians rammed the numeral "ten" down the throats of Walter Johnson's Washington club for the third time in two days here this afternoon, winning their third straight victory over the second placers, 10 to 8. Yesterday the Tribe scored ten times in each game of a twin victory.

Firpo Marberry, whose long string of victories was snapped by the Indians at Washington recently, was the victim of the Cleveland bats today. The Indians whaled him for sixteen hits in seven innings.

Nats Make Triple Steal.

Bluege walked and took third on Kuhel's single, Spencer doubled, but was forced by Marberry. Myer then forced Marberry but Rice singled, Manush doubled and both Cronin and West strolled, filling the bases. The Nats then pulled a triple steal, Rice scoring standing up. Bluege, up for the second time, terminated the rally with a roller to Montague.

The Indians didn't wait long, tying it up in their half of the same inning. Harder, Porter and Burnett singled, Averill doubled, Vosmik walked and Kamm sent a long fly to West to produce the tallies.

A double play engineered by Cronin nullified singles by Harder and Porter in the Tribe's portion of the sixth.

The Tribe scored five runs in a wild batting orgy in the seventh. Averill doubled and Morgan planted one over the wall. Vosmik singled and was forced by Kamm. Myatt popped out, but Montague singled, Harder doubled and Porter singled to produce five tallies.

Morgan Makes 2 Errors.

A pair of errors by Morgan enabled Washington to score three runs in the eighth on one hit. Kuhel singled, Spencer walked and Morgan fumbled rollers by Judge and Myer.

Carl Fischer was on the hill in the eighth and Averil greeted him with a line drive to the scoreboard for his twenty-seventh home run of the season, a new record for Cleveland players.

Both Fred Marberry and Mel Harder collapsed with a bang in the same inning today after giving no indication of weakening. Harder retired

NATS' NEMESIS

BRITISH TRIO VICTORS IN NET PLAY

Betty Nuthall Leads Women Invaders at Forest Hills.

By GAYLE TALBOT.

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 20 (A. P.).—English tennis forces, after a series of setbacks, rallied today to capture all three of the singles matches leading to the quarter-finals of the American women's tennis championships.

Led by Blonde Betty Nuthall, the defending champion, the trio from overseas made an impressive sweep of the day's program to properly square accounts for the beating they took yesterday at the hands of Queen Helen Wills Moody and her California delegation. As a result the invaders will square off on even terms in the four quarter-final tilts scheduled tomorrow.

Mrs. Jessup Beaten.

Taking up where she was forced to leave off yesterday when rain halted hostilities, Mrs. D. C. Shepherd-Barron opened the day's rout of the American forces by taking a third and deciding set from Mrs. Marion Zinderstein Jessup, of Wilmington, Del., 6—3. That made the final count 6—3, 6—0, 6—3.

Phyllis Mudford, England's second ranking star, next took up the slack by trimming little Sarah Palfrey, of Sharon, Mass., 6—2, 7—5. Bounding Betty Nuthall then made in unanimous by pounding out a 6—3, 6—2 victory over Josephine Cruickshank, of Santa Ana, Calif., No. 5 on the current American ranking list. All three British girls had to battle for their points, but they were not to be denied.

The line-up after today's catching-up process shows four representatives each from California and England still in the running for the crown worn by Miss Nuthall, the survivors of a field of 64 that started play Monday. Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, Helen Jacobs, Dorothy Weisel and Mrs. L. A. Harper are the quartet remaining to carry the banner for America. Mrs. Eileen Bennett Whittingstal completes the list of British survivors.

Pairings for the quarter-finals pit Mrs. Moody against Miss Weisel; Mrs. Harper against Miss Mudford; Miss Jacobs against Mrs. Whittingstall and Miss Nuthall against Mrs. Shepherd-Barron.

Miss Cruickshank was able to offer Miss Nuthall only occasional opposition today. The British-born champion was at her best and quickly ran out both sets after the California girl had matched her drive for drive in the early games.

Capital City Insects Await Series Starter

The first of a three-game series to determine the champion of the insect class of The Post's Capital City League will be played tomorrow at 1 p. m. on the West Ellipse when the Wonder Boys, winners of the first half, clash with the Orioles, second-half title holders. The game was originally scheduled for last Saturday, but was postponed because of wet grounds.

Celt Coasts to Victory After Nearly Recording Knockout in 8th Round

McLarnin Sends His Right to Jaw to Pile up Lead.

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.
Special to The Washington Post.

Somewhat less than a year ago, Petrolle sneaked over a punch to McLarnin's chin in the first round of a fight downtown at the Garden and slammed him around something positively cruel for the rest of the evening. McLarnin was taking a slow wind-up, preparing to throw his fast one when Petrolle tagged him and he said he didn't know what had happened until he read about it in the papers. A few months later they met some more in the big store of the Garden firm and this time McLarnin took no wind-ups with his right but contented himself to pay off his owings with painless but humiliating left hooks and jabs.

Petrolle Sags In Eighth.

Tonight, however, they were dissolving their profitable combination, which had drawn gross receipts of, oh, say, $175,000 in three operations, and McLarnin used the right again, trying to make everything very emphatic. He ripped Petrolle's right eye and cauliflowered his nose and almost knocked him out in the eighth round, when Billy Petrolle, the Fargo Express, as he calls himself, sagged in a corner with his knees all of a jitter, a very weary Willie.

McLarnin seemed to shy off after the eighth. Petrolle was all undone anyway, and Jimmy may have wished to avoid the thousandth chance of an aimless clip on the beard. Or, possibly, he was tired, himself, for though the woodchopper wins over the tree, his work takes something out of him. Anyway, McLarnin put his feet up on the handle bars and coasted gayly to the end of the ten-round show when he turned a handspring at the verdict and went away.

Petrolle Winner of First Round.

Petrolle sat lingering in his corner, his faded, raveled blanket thrown over his shoulders, peering down his crumpled nose, dejected and apparently convinced at last that his first victory had been a mistake.

Petrolle won the first round only, dealing McLarnin two conspicuous lefts, one to the body and the other to the jaw, where the glove left a smarting red welt. With McLarnin dealing in right-hand business again, Petrolle had an unexpected opportunity to whip the left home as he had done before. But Jimmy had shortened his windup and he was spinning that red right glove down a straight line to Billy's jaw with an emphasis that even a famous iron man couldn't affect to enjoy.

McLarnin went out in front in the third round and, except in the fifth, when Petrolle stepped up his pace and confused him for a minute or so, the score piled up on one side and the grief accumulated on the other. It was a very pleasant prize fight for the customers.

They parted friends, having done very well for themselves and their dependent managers in the exploitation of a little rivalry which, if it had occurred between a couple of pleasure fighters, would have been utterly wasted up an alley or down a cellar.

The crowd, scattered bleakly through the big ball park stands, barely numbered 20,000, and the gate receipts were estimated at about $50,000.

At 146 pounds, 1 under the welterweight limit, McLarnin had a 7-pound pull over Petrolle in the weights.

Tigers Pound Lisenbee In Defeating Red Sox

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 20 (A P.).—The Tigers pounded out a 7-2 victory over the Boston Red Sox in the second game of a series today. The Tigers drove Lisenbee from the mound in the first inning with three doubles and a single, which made four runs, with one out.

Morris, who succeeded Lisenbee, was found for only one run, but McLaughlin, who pitched the eighth inning, allowed three hits and two runs. Herring, Tiger pitcher, had the Sox in hand most of the way.

Herman's Double in 8th Defeats Cubs for Robins

Brooklyn, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Babe Herman's double with the bases full climaxed a four-run rally in the eighth inning today and gave the Robins 4-to-1 decision over the Chicago Cubs in a pitching duel between Watson Clarke and Charley Root.

They fought on even terms through the first seven innings, each pitcher allowing three hits. Then, with two out in the Brooklyn half, Clarke and Frederick singled and Cuyler booted Frederick's ball to give them both an extra base. O'Doul was purposely passed and Herman came up to clear the bases with a double, Bissonette's single brought in the fourth run.

Clarke weakened badly in the ninth. After Cuyler led off with a triple and scored on Frederick's error, Clarke walked three men to fill the bases and Jack Quinn was called in to retire the last batsman.

YANKEES WIN ON RUTH'S HOMER

Bases Full as Babe Hits 34th; Browns Bow by 7-4.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Tied for the major league home-run lead when Lou Gehrig clouted his thirty-third four-bagger of the season in the fourth inning, Babe Ruth came through in the ninth, slamming his thirty-fourth circuit swat clear over the roof of the stands when the bases were full and giving the New York Yankees a 7-to-4 victory over St. Louis.

Home runs accounted for all the Yankee runs. In addition to the swats by Ruth and Gehrig, Joe Sewell hit for the circuit in the fifth. Vernon Gomez, Yankee pitcher, came close to scoring the New Yorkers' first shutout of the season, but weakened in the ninth after holding the Browns to one hit in eight innings. In the ninth, four hits and an error gave St. Louis all its runs. Sam Gray started for the Browns and Wallace Herbert hurled the last and most costly inning.

Next Leech Cup Play At Army-Navy Club

The annual tennis match between the Army and Navy for possession of the Leech Cup, held at Chevy Chase Country Club since its inception in 1924, will be staged next year at the Army and Navy Country Club, it was learned yesterday from Lieut. Col. A. J. Cooper, chairman of the grounds tennis committee of the club.

The three clay courts the club now maintains will be changed into fast-drying playing surfaces as soon as the court committee of the U. S. L. T. A. passes on the legitimacy of the newly patented rain-absorbing coating. Work on the courts will start immediately upon receipt of authorization from the national body.

There are only six courts of this type in the United States at the present time. They are green in color. Col. Cooper will fly to Hagerstown, Md., early next week to inspect a test court.

Hubbell Shades Benton As Giants Beat Reds

New York, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Carl Hubbell had a shade the better of Larry Benton in a pitchers' duel today and the Giants defeated the Cincinatti Reds for the second consecutive time, 3 to 1. The victory, coupled with Chicago's defeat, gave the Giants a full game margin over the Cubs in their battle for second place.

Benton gave only seven hits to nine off Hubbell, but three of them, with Benton's error, gave the Giants two runs in the sixth. Fred Leach hit a home run in the eighth for the final New York tally. Cincinnatti's lone run was scored in the eighth on singles by Crabtree, Hendrick and Cucinello.

Hackney and Markle Barred From Pro Golf

Philadelphia, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Clarence Hackney, of Atlantic City, and Harry Markle, of Reading, have been declared ineligible for competition in the annual championship tournament of the Professional Golfers Association of America at Providence, R. I., starting September 14.

This decision, made by the P. G. A. executive committee, was forwarded today to Herb Jewson, secretary-treasurer of the Philadelphia P. G. A.

Braves and Bucs Split 2 as Brandt Wins 16th

Boston, Aug 20 (A.P.).—The Pittsburgh Pirates opened a series with the Braves today by splitting a double-header, the Braves winning the first game in ten innings behind the fine pitching of Ed Brandt, and Pie Traynor furnishing the winning margin by his hitting in the night-cap which the Pirates took, 5 to 4.

Ed Brandt hung up his sixteenth victory of the season in the opener, twelve more than he won throughout last year. He scored the winning run himself in the tenth when Steve Swetonic passed three in a row and Earle Sheeley filed out.

Bill Sherdel, whose pitching for the Braves has been good of late, fell a victim to Pie Traynor, who drove in three runs. Traynor's double in the seventh, after a base on balls and a single, scored two runs and the winning margin.

ROEBUCK OFFERED UP AS SACRIFICE TO STEELE TONIGHT

Shikat Listed To Oppose Kwariani

Chief White Feather Dusted Off; Matched With Nelson.

By BOB CONSIDINE.

MATCHMAKER JOE TURNER, ever ready to give the local subscribers to sport what they want, provided they want wrestling, is, in the order named, at it again. Laboring under the assumption that Washington's tallest buildings might become topheavy, now that all the 101 Ranch elephants have left, Mr. Turner is importing several tons of ballast, better known as heavyweight rasslers.

Sad to relate, there will be another mat massacre tonight at Mr. Griffith's ball yards. The exhibitions feature two of the best boys in the business and ten of the worst. The advance ticket sale has felt the absence of Jim Londos to a rather unfortunate degree, but giving every third customer the benefit of one lady friend (the dears who shriek so shrilly for gore and more gore will be let in free this time), it looks like a crowd something under the roof of 10,000.

Ray Steele, the second seeded glowerer in M. Curley's herd, headlines the vaudeville, given preference over Dick Shikat, now seeded No. 4. Just incidentally, bone bender No. 3 is Jim McMillen, who wrestled Steele to a two-hour draw two nights ago in Baltimore, which town goes for McMillen like a Palace Sunday night crowd for Wesley ("Peaches") Eddy.

Steele Picked To Win.

Tonight Steele will accost the chassis of Tiny Roebuck for. It is shrewdly estimated, 36 minutes and 20 some seconds. Steele will show desultory glimpses of his great strength and speed desultorily throughout the match. Tiny, however, will take a brutal offensive after 34 minutes. Steele will be almost out. A stiff flying tackle and a thor-hammer has him giddy. He reels and a great shout will arise; then before the echo has had time to come back, Mr. Steele's nerves will have steeled sufficiently enough to enable him to steal the show immediately, hoist Tiny's 245 pounds 7 feet closer to Paradise and drop it rudely on the flat of its back, 7 feet closer to a naughty word.

Shikat will dally around with Kola Kwariani, the hairless wonder, in the semiwindup. No man in rassledom has the savoir faire of Shikat, but he has been held back by making manifest his feeling of great contempt for his status in life. Shikat was once a minor officer in the once-proud German Navy, and to this day he feels that the mugs who tear and haul at him are not very nice people. He tolerates where Steele annihilates.

Grudge Bouts Promised.

Several pseudo-grudge fights promise to please the city's sense of humor. Chief White Feather has been unearthed, dusted off and matched to meet Tiger Nelson, a wealthy old buzzard who acts the part of the world's meanest man, at so many dollars a mean. There is some ballyhoo of grudge also in the probable fiasco between Dutch Green and Tarzan Romonoff, whose only claim to fame or inclusion on the card seems to be that they both were disqualified for fighting Tuesday night at Rockville.

What these and the rest of the bouts tonight will prove remains in doubt. At this writing, the sole beauty of the events is that the seats at the ball park will receive a good shining, pending the return home of the limping Nats.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—VONNIE, $11.56, $6.50, $5.06; MY DESIRE, $8.86, $5.96; KENNY BOY, $5.16.

VONNIE, breaking fast from the outside, crossed in front of the field in the first quarter to take a good lead and showed the way to the finish. MY DESIRE escaped early interference to beat the others. KENNY BOY raced on the outside most of the way and finished fairly well. CLASBY'S CHOICE showed a good effort. The remainder of the field all met with interference through early crowding with DAD MEINERS, NIGHT VINTAGE, ELKHART and CELTIC WAY being the worst sufferers.

SECOND RACE—Six and one-half furlongs (Hawthorne course, out of chute). Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 2:45½. Off at 2:50½. Winner, Royal Stable's b. c. (3), by Tall Timber—Vivid Edith. Trained by J. Lowenstein. Value to winner, $850; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:24, 0:48 3-5, 1:14, 1:20 4-5.

ROYAL ROGUE was saved close to the leaders in the early stages and, taking command near the finish, lasted to hold MARDIE. The latter raced wide at the stretch turn, but closed strongest of all in the center of the track. SUN MASH weakened near the finish after racing DICK MORRIS into defeat.

THIRD RACE—Six and one-half furlongs (Hawthorne course, out of chute). Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 3:18. Off at 3:19. Winner, Gallaher and Combs' b. f. (3), by Ballot—Glyn.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—PLUMAGE, $10.56, $3.34, $3.10; LADY EBONY, $2.96, $2.90; OVER SHADY, $5.04.

PLUMAGE, easily best, was shuffled back to last place on the far turn and was forced to race around the field to find clear passage, but came fast in the final furlong and won going away. LADY EBONY ran with some interference and staged a some finish, but was not good enough for the winner. OVER SHADY had the most early speed and held on fairly well. PHANTASIME was going strongly at the end. ALL GIRLS tired in the closing strides after showing good early speed.

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,500; allowances. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won handily; place, driving. Went to post at 3:48. Off at 3:51. Winner, Three Ds Stock Farm's ch. h. PANSY WALKER, close up from the start, raced strongly through the stretch and was a handy winner. MARTHA JONES set most of the early pace and held on fairly well. CHEERS was racing well when he met with interference in the stretch and dropped back slightly. WEIDELEEN and VERY WELL were outpaced.

FIFTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:19. Off at 4:23½. Winner, G. W. Ogle's b. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—PRINCE TOKALON, $9.04, $3.52, $3.04; MONTANARO, $2.90, $2.60; GUIDE RIGHT, $3.18.

PRINCE TOKALON was in a prominent position from the start, was getting to the front when GUIDE RIGHT began to tire in the stretch, drew out to a safe lead in the closing stages. MONTANARO acted badly at the barrier and was started from outside the field. He moved in intimation to bear out on the turns and raced wide in the stretch, evidently needing a stronger rider. GUIDE RIGHT opened up a long lead in the early running, but weakened when challenged.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:53½. Off at 4:53½. Winner, Labrae Stable's b. h. Two-dollar mutuels paid—INFINITY, $22.96, $14.90, $8.28; BATTLING ON, $17.30, $8.56; PRIMEVAL, $5.46.

INFINITY sprinted to the front at once and, opening up a long lead, increased it after going a half mile but was tiring fast at the end. BATTLING ON, always close up, finished fast and was gaining rapidly. PRIMEVAL came fast from the stretch to second and the third place in the closing strides. WIRT G. BOWMAN moved up fast approaching the stretch turn, but hung in the final run.

SEVENTH RACE—One and three-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward, colts and horses. Start good. Won handily; place, driving. Went to post at 5:23½. Off at 5:24. ED LARK, showing much improvement, went to the front at once and, displaying more gameness than usual, lasted to win. TOMAN showed a courageous effort and held FORTUNE'S FAVORITE. The latter saved ground throughout and had no excuse.

EIGHTH RACE—One and three-sixteenths miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward, colts, horses and geldings. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 5:53½. CAPITAL STARS NEAR FINALS IN PUBLIC PARKS SINGLES

Mitchell Wins In 3 Sets at Detroit

Pairs With Markey to Advance Also in Doubles Play.

Mrs. Martinez Gains Semifinals by 3-Set Victory.

Special to The Washington Post.

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 20.—Washington, D. C., placed net representatives in the late rounds of the National Public Parks tennis championship here today as Mrs. Ruth Martinez won her way into the semifinal round of the women's singles and Dooly Mitchell swamped his opponent to gain the round of eight in the men's singles.

Mrs. Martinez won a heroic battle against Constance O'Donovan, 6—1, 4—6, 7—5, after the Detroit girl had piled up a lead of 3—1 in the final set.

By virtue of her victory today, Mrs. Martinez will next meet Mrs. Virginia Baer Dueker, the first seeded player, who defeated the Washingtonian in the final last year to gain the national title.

Mitchell Wins by Quick Match.

Dooly Mitchell, who had established a reputation for playing long matches, dissipated his new-found identification by rocketing over Edward Nowak, of Ann Arbor, in almost record time, 6—2, 6—0, 6—2. Nothing the Washingtonian could do was wrong. Nowak's only rejoinder was that he acted as a practice board off which Mitchell produced his most dazzling array of strokes.

Mitchell continued his almost faultless play in the doubles late today when, paired with Bud Markey, he swamped the Detroit team of Milton Bielfield and Ralph Burkhleser, 6—0, 6—1, 6—1.

Jennings Hard Pressed To Survive.

George Jennings, seeded No. 1 in men's singles, and thrice winner of the event, got the scare of his life today when he walked off the courts at the ten-minute intermission trailing two sets to one in his match with Arnold Simon, clever Louisville lefthander. The breezy Chicagoan returned from his shower visibly freshened, however, and raced out the match, 6—4, 4—6, 6—8, 6—1, 6—0. The victory placed him in the semifinal round.

Hamilton, Ont., Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Carding an 83 on his final round, Eddie Gableman, of Cincinnati, Ohio, today won the International Union Printers golf championship and the Walter Hagen Trophy with a 72-hole total of 330. Five strokes behind was the defending champion, C. D. Radabough, of Detroit. M. Deans, of Toronto, was third with 339 and J. E. Voll, Washington, fourth with 340.

Plans for a playoff between Gableman and C. E. Hovis, of Canton, Ohio, winner of the allied crafts tournament, were abandoned tonight when Hovis defaulted.

The team prize was won by Radabough and Begg, of Detroit, with combined scores of 679. Washington, represented by Voll and J. E. Stringer, was second with 684.

PING PONG VICTOR.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

RECENTLY a contest was promoted in Des Moines, Iowa, to find the 18-year-old resident with the longest hair in the State. Of course, girls from all over the State entered the contest, but they were all disappointed, for one boy entered his crowning glory in the competition and walked off with first prize. The boy was Joseph Kametz, of Albia, who has never had a hair cut in his life. Although a strong and sturdy young man, Joseph has silken hair reaching to his waist and says that he never intends to cut it.

The three men who rolled a barrel of herring 250 miles, rolled it from Gydnia, Poland, right up to Marshal Pilsudski's front door to show that they were strong and willing to work. They were all promised jobs

• • • •

The shell-covered calf was born on the farm of William J. Afterkirk, of Union, Ky. A photograph of the strange creature was sent to "Strange As It Seems" by Arthur Haute, of Cincinnati, Ohio. The calf was completely covered with a hard cracked shell, having all the appearance of dried mud, and was entirely free from hair.

Washington Ad Golfers Beaten in Baltimore

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 20.—Golfing representatives of the Advertising Club of Baltimore defeated a group of rival guests from Washington's Ad Club, 25 to 15, at Rodgers Forge today.

The groups adopted a novel scoring plan as the basis for deciding supremacy. All matches went eighteen holes, and the margin of superiority on the home green counted as points toward the team score. Thus, Miss Maude Shaeffer, treasurer of the local organization, by winning a 9-and-8 contest from R. A. Long, added most points to the Baltimore score.

The No. 1 match, between Howard Mattingly, member of the board of directors and golf committee of the local club, and Howard Barry, president of the visiting organization, resulted in four points for the home club score.

By downing Fred Michaels, 5 and 4, William Hough, of the Capital, gained the most points for the visitors. A dinner and dance followed the golfing part of the event.

The scores follow:

Howard Mattingly, Baltimore, defeated Howard Barry, 4 and 3; W. O. Fitzgerald, Washington, defeated R. O. Bonnell, 7 up; Pat O'Brien, Baltimore, defeated Charles Morse, 2 up; William Hough, Washington, defeated Fred Michaels, 5 and 4; John Masters, Baltimore, defeated W. W. Smith, 1 up; T. W. Roberts, Baltimore, defeated W. Bryant, 4 and 3; George Garrett, Washington, defeated Howard Barrett, 2 up; Charles Sides, Washington, defeated C. B. Richards, 3 and 1; C. L. Smith, Baltimore, defeated Herbert Ogier, 2 and 1; Miss Maude Shaeffer, Baltimore, defeated R. A. Long, 9 and 8; Tommy Lyons, sr., Baltimore, defeated C. L. Gibbs, 2 and 1; Tommy Lyons, jr., Baltimore, defeated Jack Ely, 2 up; Miss Bonnell, Baltimore, defeated Miss Musgrave, 1 up.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

LEAD POISONING IN BIRDS AND BABIES.

IN STODDARD'S magnificent study of quails there is a report of a condition that may interest mothers of young children. One day he found a quail unable to escape from a deep rut in the road. He captured the bird and found him paralyzed in the legs. On another occasion he found some quail that flew poorly. He captured these and found them weak in the wings. Study of the birds showed them to be suffering from lead paralysis—sometimes in the legs and sometimes in the wings. On opening the crops he found lead shot. Search in the fields where these birds had been ranging showed the presence of much shot. The sequence was as follows:

The region had been frequently hunted over. The many hunters of this and former years had left many shot here and there among the pebbles on the ground. Quail, searching for grain, or for pebbles to grind it in their crops, had swallowed shot. These had remained in their crops and absorption from them had produced lead poisoning. This in turn had caused neuritis of the legs and wings. The birds had lead paralysis.

A fair number of babies suffer from lead poisoning, the cause being lead paint rather than lead shot, as in the case of quail. A baby left to himself is likely to pick things. Whatever he picks up is likely to go straight to his mouth. Babies suck paint from toys, bassinets, cradles, carriers, the bars of the bed.

Most paints contain some form of lead salt. This is especially true of the enamel paints. These fine, shiny, substantial, glossy protectives are just the types of paints that a baby can most easily break off and carry into his mouth or gnaw off and swallow. They tempt the baby to indulge in several instinctive acts. Once the lead paint gets into the mouth it is very likely to be swallowed and quite likely to be absorbed. The dose of lead thus acquired may be large enough to be fatal. It is more likely to bring about colic. Constipation and pallor are other symptoms that may result. Doubtless some of them develop weakness in the arms and legs. Mothers will probably recall many symptoms which their babies have had and which are found in the lead poisoning list. If so, let them investigate the chance that the baby may have gnawed some paint from a toy, or picked some from his shiny bed, and that lead poisoning has resulted.

ANYBODY'S GUESS.

L. M. H. writes: I know a lady about 74 years old, apparently in good health, who has recently lost four fingernails on her right hand. They merely dropped off. The woman weighs about 180 pounds, leads a normal, simple life, and is apparently a well woman.

1. What does this signify?
2. Is it a disease of itself?
3. Is it hereditary?
4. Will nails grow again?
5. Is it a serious condition?

REPLY.

1. One guess is as good as another. It may be due to ringworm, some other infection of the nails, or perhaps to Raynaud's disease.
2. It might be.
3. No.
4. Probably not, but this is speculation.
5. Probably not.

CALOMEL AND SULPHATE OF ATROPIN.

E. E. E. writes:

1. Please write about calomel. What will it do for one in the course of time if taken about once or twice a week?
2. Also, please write on sulphate of atropin.

REPLY.

1. Taking calomel about once a week causes constipation. It may cause mercury poisoning, pyorrhea, and some other disorders. It is useless as well as harmful.
2. Sulphate of atropin is a very strong drug. In minute doses it enters into the combinations called laxative pills and after-dinner pills. Physicians use the drug in full doses for a few disorders. It is much too powerful to be carelessly or ignorantly used

Fifth Avenue Fashions

Smart young things wear the adjustable belt at slightly higher waistline.

Style No. 770 may be had in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38 and 40 inches bust. Size 16 requires three yards of 39-inch material with 3-8 yard of 39-inch contrasting.

It's a splendid type for white or pastel cotton mesh that is so thoroughly smart and practical for sports.

Yellow shantung, shirting fabric in blue stripings, marine blue linen with white dots, dusty pink flat washable crepe silk or fuchsia-purple checked gingham will add smart note to your summer wardrobe.

Price of pattern, 15 cents. Address Fashion Department, The Washington Post, Fifth avenue and Twenty-ninth street, New York City.

STOCK PRICES GAIN FRACTION AT CLOSE

Trading on Market Drifts Irresolutely After Rally Early in Session.

New York, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Financial markets drifted irresolutely today, as bulls who recently launched an ambitious campaign in stocks appeared to have grown somewhat discouraged over public apathy and the lack of impelling business news.

Stocks pushed up rather robustly for a time early in the session, but for the third successive day encountered rather hard sledging around midday. Final prices were mixed, with narrow gains predominating in leading issues. The turnover was only 1,068,880 shares. The price average of 90 issues showed a net gain for the day of but 1-8 of 1 point.

Commodities were largely steady to firm. Wheat improved slightly in response to better export demand, and finished ⅜ to ⅝ of a cent higher. Gains in corn were only ⅛ to ¼ of a cent. Cotton closed up 40 to 55 cents a bale.

Oil Advance Slackens.

The recent advance in the oil shares appeared to be tiring. Reports that the Sinclair-Prairie-Tidewater-Rio Grande merger was all but completed were described as premature in some quarters, although negotiations are said still to be in progress. Prairie oil lost 2 points, bringing it in line with reports that it would be exchanged on a share-for-share basis with Sinclair, but Tidewater Associated, after advancing up toward a level which would bring it in line with the rumored exchange of 10 for 8 of Sinclair, lost its rise on publication of the statement of the present that no agreement had been reached.

Chemical issues displayed conspicuous group strength. Allied, Air Reduction, Union Carbide and U. S. Industrial Alcohol closed a point or two higher. Advances of about 1 to 3 were recorded by U. S. Steel, American Water Works, Consolidated Gas, Freeport Texas, New York Central, Union Pacific, Norfolk & Western, J. C. Penney, Radio, Radio Preferred B, Servel and Westinghouse.

The tobaccos weakened, in response to reports that the monthly cigarette consumption report would show a substantial decrease. The American Tobacco and Liggett & Myers issues recorded losses of around 3 points. Tobaccos were bull favorites earlier in the year, when wholesale cigarette prices were increased. Motors were again under some pressure. Nash lost a point and General Motors and Chrysler yielded fractionally.

Loans Gain Slightly.

The recent bullish activity in the share market was reflected by a gain of only $14,000,000 in brokers' loans. It was the first gain since the week ended July 1. The comparatively small gain was attributable in part to the sharp setback on Monday.

The weekly condition statement of the Federal Reserve System showed an increase of nearly $46,000,000 in bills discounted for member banks, which was interpreted as reflecting either seasonal credit requirements or deposit withdrawals in the interior. Discounting in the New York district showed a reduction of $11,000,000. Further injections of credit by the system through bill purchases in the open market moderated, amounting to only about $19,000,000. Holdings of Government securities were virtually unchanged.

Statements of the Bank of England and the Banque de France attracted considerable attention. The Bank of England appeared to be working back to normalcy satisfactorily. Gold increased roughly by $7,500,000.

Circulation declined, bringing the ratio of reserves to liabilities up to the fairly satisfactory level of 45.8 per cent. Little hope of a reduction in the discount rate is held until the Government announces its measure to balance the budget.

The Banque de France statement showed a gain in sight balances abroad of about $70,000,000. As this statement is for a period several days previous to the Federal Reserve statement, it tended to confirm reports that the banque was selling its bills in the New York market and placing its funds on deposit with the Federal Reserve. This week's reserve statement showed no further gains in funds held for foreign banks, so that operation may have been completed. At any rate, it is regarded as a cause of the recent slight firming of credit in the New York market.

Foreign exchange rates moved rather narrowly. Sterling Cables held steady at $4.85⅛. The German mark was quoted a little lower, and the Argentine peso was heavy. Dutch florins were firm.

CORPORATIONS PASS TO WIDE OWNERSHIP

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Figures strikingly illustrating the way in which ownership of great American corporations is passing from the hands of the few into those of the many have been released by the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana.

When this company became a separate organization in 1911, it had 6,078 stockholders, nearly all of whom were residents of New York and a few other financial centers. Now it is owned by 95 136 stockholders scattered through every State and Territory in the United States and several foreign countries. There are 611 stockholders in the District of Columbia.

Class 1 railroads on August 1, latest reported date, had 181,702 freight cars in need of repairs, or 8.3 per cent of the number on line, according to the car service division of the American Railway Association. This was an increase of 4,670 cars above the number in need of repair on July 15, at which time there were 177,032, or 8.1 per cent.

Heavy Repairs Needed.

Freight cars in need of heavy repairs on August 1 totaled 123,942 cars, or 5.9 per cent, an increase of 3,049 compared with the number on July 15, while freight cars in need of light repairs totaled 52,760, or 2.4 per cent, an increase of 1,621 compared with July 15.

The gross revenue, net railway operating income and net income of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Co., together with operating ratio, are shown in the statement of operations for the month of July, 1931, report for which was sent to the Interstate Commerce Commission yesterday.

Gross revenues for the month were $10,786,804, a decrease of $350,624 over July last year. Operating expenses were $6,287,870, a decline of $946,792 as compared with July of 1930. Net railway operating income was $3,634,452, an increase of $516,681 over July a year ago. Net income after all charges, including sinking fund appropriation for the month of July, was $2,008,499, a gain of $360,325 over July, 1930. Operating ratio is 58.3 per cent compared with 64.9 per cent for July of last year, a recession of 6.6 per cent.

Company's Gross Revenues.

For the seven months ended July 31 the company shows gross revenues of $69,796,505, a decrease of $9,437,990. Operating expenses were $44,231,626, a loss of $8,091,329. Net railway operating income was $19,564,963, or $1,884,512 off. Net income after all charges, including sinking fund appropriation, is $14,749,782, a decline of $2,741,601 compared with corresponding period of 1930. The operating ratio for the period is 63.4 per cent, or 2.6 per cent less compared with the same period a year ago.

The publicity committee of Washington Chapter, American Institute of Banking, for the administrative year 1931-1932, will be composed of the following: Robert H. Lacey, Columbia National Bank, chairman; S. Winifred Burwell, National Metropolitan Bank; Robert G. Whitton, First National Bank of Alexandria, Va.; Alfred W. Sherman, American Security & Trust Co.; Norman E. Towson, Washington Loan & Trust Co.

Active in Work.

Mr. Lacey, the chairman, has been active in chapter affairs for the past seven years. He is a standard certificate holder, has held the offices of assistant secretary and treasurer, and has served on the board of governors. He was chairman of the membership committee in 1929-1930, and has been a member of various other committees during past years. He is second vice president of the chapter this year and was a delegate to attend the national convention of the Institute at Pittsburgh this year. Mr. Lacey is cashier of Columbia National Bank and is a World War veteran.

The work of the chapter's publicity committee is very closely identified with that of the membership committee, one of its functions being to advertise the benefits of the Institute to bank employes so that those who are not chapter members will desire to join, and those who are members will want to continue their work in its classes. The other function of the committee is to acquaint the general public with the ideals and accomplishments of the American Institute of Banking, so that the efforts to the banks to render the most intelligent service possible may be appreciated. This committee also gathers publicity material during the year and arranges it for exhibition at the national convention, where prizes are awarded for the most effective display.

MADE CHAIRMAN

ROBERT H. LACEY, chairman, publicity committee, Washington Chapter, American Institute of Banking.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Aug. 20 (A.P.).—Higher prices on wheat blossomed out today despite the fact that corn again outdid the season's bottommost figures for September contracts. Widespread wet weather in Europe and negotiations for a 15,000,000 bushel sale of United States Farm Board wheat to China on credit for flood relief had a decided bullish influence. There were also continued reports from India, China and Japan that the crops were short and might cause the Orient to buy more wheat than expected.

Wheat closed firm, ¾@¾ cents advanced; corn unsettled, ⅛@⅜ up; oats at a shade decline to ⅛ gain, and provisions 7 cents lower to 7 cents higher.

A big slash in unofficial estimates of France's wheat yield this season, making the total 25,000,000 bushels less than the latest previous forecast, gave particular emphasis to advices that protracted rains had hampered European harvest operations and injured the quality of threshing returns. It was figured that 10 per cent of the reduced output of wheat in France would be of inferior grade. Persistent unfavorable weather was reported by Great Britain, Germany, Belgium, Denmark, Sweden, Norway and Czechoslovakia. The reports expressed fears of heavy damage in the Scandinavian countries.

The export basis for United States wheat at the Gulf of Mexico was the best so far this season, with first half of September loading quoted 1¼ cents a bushel over Chicago September delivery. Winnipeg reported demand for old-crop wheat tightening. The new-crop movement of spring wheat was small in the United States and Canada. Export purchases from North America were estimated at 400,000 bushels, including United States hard winter grades. Russian shipments during the last week were heavy, 3,472,000 bushels, following 4,584,000 the week previous.

Corn and oats responded to wheat strength and attracted higher notwithstanding transient bearish effects from some increase of rural offerings of corn and as a result of rains over parts of the corn belt sections.

Provisions paralleled steadiness of hog values.

BANDITS BOARD AUTO AT HALT IN TRAFFIC; TAKE $26 WITH GUNS

MINUTE DESCRIPTIONS OF TWO GIVEN POLICE

Similar Robbery Is Reported by Pool-Room Worker, Who Lost $54.

Two bandits, who leaped on the running board of their victim's auto as it slowed to a stop at Nineteenth and Lamont streets, robbed Isaac Pearson of $26 a few minutes past 9 o'clock last night. The bold holdup was perpetrated within sight of Mr. Pearson's home at 1862 Park Road.

The motorist, who is a mechanic by trade, said he had stopped at the intersection for Nineteenth street traffic when suddenly and without warning a man jumped on each running board of his sedan. Both poked pistols in his face and demanded his money. Neither was masked.

Wallet Contained $26.

On reaching his home, the victimized driver called police. He said that one bandit was 25 to 35 years old, about 5 feet 10 inches tall and 150 pounds in weight. He wore striped overalls and dotted shirt.

The second robber was described as being about 5 feet 6 inches tall, 140 pounds, wearing a blue shirt and a straw hat. Neither wore neckties and both had heavy growths of beard.

Similar Case Reported.

Fourth Precinct police are investigating Robert E. Atwell's report that he was held up on Ninth street near G southeast early yesterday and robbed of $54.

Atwell said that he was driving to his home at 806 G street southeast, from a pool room at 3301 Rhode Island avenue northeast, where he is employed, when two men jumped onto the running board and at the point of a gun ordered him to surrender his cash.

Veteran Arraigned In Killing of Poole

Plea of Not Guilty Is Filed for Alleged Slayer of Policeman.

Unable to stand, and apparently suffering from St. Vitus disease, Bert Davis, former inmate of the United States Soldiers' Home, yesterday was arraigned before Justice F. Dickinson Letts, of the District Supreme Court, on an indictment charging him with murder in the first degree.

Davis, who is now undergoing a series of mental examinations, is charged with having fatally shot Policeman Charles D. Poole, of the Twelfth Precinct, last August 4. Davis, Poole and others are said to have been engaged in a drinking spree when Davis suddenly leaped to his feet, whipped out a revolver, and shot Poole through the neck.

Davis professed ignorance of the shooting when he was asked how he desired to plead. On the recommendation of Acting United States Attorney Walter M. Shea, Justice Letts recorded a not guilty plea, and continued further proceedings until Dr. D. Percy Hickling, District alienist, has had an opportunity to report on the mental condition of Davis.

Bootblack Arrested In Larceny After Trust

Edward Williams, 17-year-old colored bootblack, was arrested late yesterday, several hours after he allegedly failed to return to the barber shop where he is employed and which had sent him to the bank to deposit a $36 check and $14 cash. The youth, who said he lives at 756 Fairmont street northwest, was charged with larceny after trust.

Sulton B. Williams, manager of the barber shop at 5628 George avenue, is the complainant. Not knowing his employe's exact address, he entered a police car with Detective Elmer F. Lewis and cruised down Georgia avenue until they saw young Williams enter a store. Lewis said that $47 was recovered.

AMBULANCES DENIED HIGH-SPEED RIGHTS

Police Cars Also Included in Curb Under Ruling of Judge McMahon.

Police automobiles and ambulances operating on emergency trips do not have the protection of the traffic code in their fast runs, Police Court Judge John P. McMahon ruled yesterday in finding Ryland Peyton, driver of the Casualty Hospital ambulance, guilty of driving on the wrong side of the street, passing a red light and unnecessary noises.

While the case did not hinge upon speeding, Judge McMahon took occasion to rule that the code did not allow police cars and ambulances the right to unlimited speed. He did say, though, that Fire Department vehicles did have the right to make whatever speed they could make.

The traffic code permits the police, ambulance and fire machines the right-of-way by directing that all motorists shall drive to the curbing and stop until such machines have passed. Judge McMahon held that a decision of the Court of Appeals nullified this section of the code insofar as it applied to machines other than Fire Department units.

Ryland was found guilty and his personal bond was taken. He was arrested at Fourteenth and G streets August 8, and the case attracted unusual attention because of the determination of the hospital authorities to assist the driver.

The ruling will have far-reaching effects on police cars speeding to emergency calls, for under Judge McMahon's finding, such cars will not have the right-of-way over any other vehicle. Ambulances likewise will hereafter have to adhere to the speed laws or run the risk of arrest.

Driver Released In Hancock Death

Autoist Who Was Killed Is Held to Have Been at Fault in Tragedy.

That James Elmer Hancock, 28, of 625 Seventh street northeast, was killed in an automobile accident, the result of his own carelessness, was the decision reached yesterday by the coroner's jury. Hancock had been involved in a series of accidents and was reported to be leaving the scene of the last one when struck by an automobile operated by Blaine Lowry, of Mount Rainier, Md.

Lowry was held by police pending the inquest, but was released when it was shown that he was not at fault.

Among those appearing before the coroner's jury were three of the occupants of Hancock's car: Miss Margaret Wilkinson, 4300 Georgia avenue northwest; Frank Matthews, 809 F street northeast, and Fred Lang, 3612 Twenty-eighth street northeast. Paul B. Gammie, 202 Philadelphia avenue, Takoma Park, Md., and Blaine Lowry, of Mount Rainier, also appeared. Both were operating cars which were struck by Hancock's machine.

Workman Badly Hurt In Fall of One Floor

Peter Miller, 41-year-old workman employed in razing a building across from the Bureau of Internal Revenue, was seriously injured late yesterday when he lost his footing on a fourth-story rafter and fell to the third floor.

At Emergency Hospital he was treated for a fracture of the pelvis, internal injuries, possible skull fracture, broken wrist and broken arm. Mr. Miller lives at 1231 Eighth street northwest.

Throng Sees Blast Wreck Smokestack

Seventeen hours of applied brawn and brain, plus scores of sticks of dynamite brought down last night the 200-foot smokestack of the old Potomac Electric Power Co. building which had covered the block between Fourteenth and Thirteen-and-a-half, B and C streets northwest, opposite the new Department of Commerce Building.

Destruction of the stack was a free show which both thrilled and disappointed thousands of persons who gathered through the closing hours of the day to watch. Though several hundreds of men, women and children saw the tall black stack fall at 10:30 o'clock, they were but a corporal's guard compared with the number who had waited since the afternoon until 9:20 o'clock when a long-expected blast of dynamite flashed and banged but only caused the stack to waver gently back and forth.

Some Make It a Picnic.

Many came expecting to see the stack fall promptly at 6 o'clock. Others had watched since before 5 o'clock. Some stayed, sending for sandwiches and eating them in their automobiles. Others, informed that difficulties had been encountered in drilling adequate holes for dynamite, went home, had dinner and returned.

A special detail of police barred traffic from surrounding streets when the first charge was set off. Eighty sticks of dynamite were exploded in 47 holes drilled in the foundation. When the stack did not fall hundreds gave up their vigil, but the faithful were rewarded an hour later. The tension had eased somewhat and the bitter-enders had been permitted to get closer. When the explosion came they were hid behind trees and automobiles and anything else that afforded protection, for the earlier explosion had hurled bits of brick and debris as far as Thirteenth street.

Three Holes This Time.

Three holes were bored in the base of the stack for the last explosion. A seven-eighths of an inch cable had been stretched from a heavy steam shovel east of Thirteen-and-a-half street to the stack about 75 feet from its top. This was to keep the stack from falling on the Commerce Building to the west.

A. M. Pollock, of the Mayer Pollock Co., of Pottstown, Pa., in charge of the work, and his men were on tenterhooks for fear of damaging that building. Inspectors had impressed them with threats of fines which ranged upward in the thousands as the word was passed along from one to another of the workmen.

"Wasn't that a pretty job? Wasn't it? Not a single brick fell into Fourteenth street," cried Mr. Pollock, gleefully, when the cloud of dust had settled after the stack had broken from its base and fallen without buckling to the ground, its top resting on the Thirteen-and-a-half street sidewalk. The crew agreed. It had begun work at 5:30 o'clock yesterday morning.

Barber's Head Injured In Row With Bootblack

A barber was in Emergency Hospital yesterday with severe injuries of the head and police were seeking a colored bootblack as result of a fight between the pair in a barber shop at 711 Ninth stret northwest. The bootblack is reported to have struck his adversary with a hammer.

Forest Balin, 28, 924 Grant place northwest, was treated for lacerations of his scalp. The assailant's name was given to police.

COAL MEN HERE ASK CUT IN FREIGHT RATE

Rebate Urged on Former Payments as 11 Dealers Petition I. C. C.

A petition asking the Interstate Commerce Commission to reduce freight rates on anthracite from the fields in Pennsylvania to Washington was filed by eleven coal dealers in Washington and its suburbs yesterday, when it was charged that the present rate of $3.28 a ton was excessive.

The petition asked not only for a reduction in rates, but also a rebate on money paid to the railways under the increased rates brought into effect last winter.

James E. Colliflower, one of the petitioners, said yesterday that the railways voluntarily lowered the rate to Baltimore to $3.02 per ton last winter, but that the Washington rate, which had previously been the same as Baltimore, was allowed to stand at the first figure. It was said that Baltimore companies are also attacking the present rates.

Mr. Colliflower pointed out that approximately 500,000 tons of coal were shipped here from the Pennsylvania fields each year, and contended that rates for shipping should be much lower. The coal men have retained John T. Money to represent them before the commission.

Policemen Arraigned On Extortion Charges

Two suspended policemen, Edward Willis Gore and Frank Joseph Hospidor, yesterday appeared before Justice F. Dickinson Letts, of the District Supreme Court, for arraignment on indictments charging them with extortion. Both entered pleas of not guilty.

The policemen were charged with taking $10 from a Negro in Southwest Washington. A squad of special policemen awaited their appearance at the Negro's home and arrested them, it was testified before the grand jury.

CONSTRUCTION FIRM IS ORDERED TO FILE PAY RATE SCHEDULE

CHANCE OF CANCELING SCHOOL AWARD FACED

Painting Firm Fails to Raise Scale Despite Finding of Labor Secretary.

With contractors on Government construction jobs in the District paying skilled and unskilled workmen widely different wages, the controversy over the "prevailing wage" law moved slowly toward a decision yesterday.

Maj. H. L. Robb, assistant engineer commissioner, in charge of the District building program, yesterday formally demanded that the W. P. Rose Construction Co., a North Carolina concern which has frequently been criticized by District labor and business leaders for paying low wages, file with the District government a statement of wages it is paying workers employed on the Woodridge School addition.

Plans Conference Today.

Maj. Robb said he expected to confer at 10 o'clock this morning with J. W. Hunt, vice president of the company, about wages. Yesterday afternoon he conferred with William W. Bride, corporation counsel, who said afterward that the District could cancel the company's contract if it failed to observe the law and pay the "prevailing wage." The company contends that it now is paying "prevailing" wages, insisting that union rates are not the prevailing scales in Washington.

So far, Maj. Robb said, no complaint had been made either by representatives of the workmen or others, but he was interested because of reports that a strike had been threatened on the strength of reports that the Rose Co. intended to reduce its rates of pay still further. If District officials and company representatives fail to agree, the question will be referred to the Department of Labor for determination of the "prevailing" wage. Even if that is done the company may still refuse to pay the rates fixed. Since the wage law carries no penalties, apparently the only course left open to the District would be to cancel the contract. Then the company might go to court over the issue.

May Resist Rulings.

That the decision of the Secretary of Labor on prevailing wages will not necessarily be accepted calmly by those concerns paying low wages was shown yesterday when the Alliance Construction Co., a New York concern, continued to pay some of its painters working on the interior of the new Internal Revenue Bureau $8 a day, in face of a ruling fixing the rate of $11 per day. Others were paid $12.

Herman Morris, of the company, said the higher-paid men were fast workers and especially skilled, and were employed in finishing work. He contended that even the union wage scale for painters on priming and first-coat work was only $7.20 a day, and that to pay $11 a day would cost $30,000 more than the amount the company was to be paid under its contract. His company is expected to file a formal answer in the next few days.

District officials made public two wage scales filed by contractors. One was the T. T. Taylor Co., building the Murch public school. It paid common labor from 40 to 50 cents an hour, carpenters $1.37½, cement finishers $1.25, electricians and structural iron workers $1.65; plumbers and steamfitters $1.50 and bricklayers $1.75. The second was filed by the Charles S. Bennett, Inc., engaged in constructing a cow barn and stable at Blue Plains. This scale ranged from 35 cents to 90 cents an hour.

BUS PIRATE'S COUP LAID TO NEGLIGENCE OF COUNTY OFFICERS

DRIVER'S LIGHT SIGNAL FAILED TO BRING HELP

Kidnaped Operator Returns After Forced Through Trip to Philadelphia.

Authorities in both Maryland and Pennsylvania are trying to figure out how a Washington Railway & Electric Co. bus, with a destination sign reading "University of Maryland" plainly displayed, was commandeered by a lone bandit early yesterday and, with the driver, forced to carry the bandit all the way to the outskirts of Philadelphia without interference. The bandit escaped.

The investigation is centering around the report that police in Maryland were notified that the driver of the bus was in distress shortly after it was taken by the bandit at College Park, Md., but instead of following the "tip" turned around and pursued an alleged bootleg automobile, letting the bus drive on.

The bus driver, Louis H. Mealy, 27 years old, of 1647 Lamont street northwest, told Philadelphia and Washington police that the bandit was about 30 years old, neatly dressed and apparently well educated. He was the last passenger in the bus when it reached the end of the run at College Park, shortly before midnight. As Mealy prepared to turn around to come back to Washington, he said, the bandit commanded him to "stick 'em up and keep going!" at the same time taking $9 of the company money and $11 personal money from him.

Signal Not Recognized.

According to his story, the holdup might have been prevented had another driver for the same company, who passed Mealy near Laurel, Md., when the frightened driver was already 8 miles past his destination, been observant enough to see Mealy flash his destination light several times as he approached the Laurel bus to pass it.

The Laurel bus driver, M. Lewis, did not attach any significance to the incident until he reached the Washington Terminal and heard that Mealy was unaccounted for two hours later. By that time he remembered the incident and made a report to the company, but Mealy had already passed Baltimore and was well on his way to Philadelphia.

A Maryland resident, however, had reported to county police in Maryland that he saw the bus being driven in a strange manner shortly after midnight and advised the police to investigate. The bus was seen near Midway Country Club. However, a rum-laden car was reported on its way through the county and the officers concerned themselves with an attempt to head off the bootleggers instead of acting on the information concerning the bus.

Shortly after passing through Laurel, Mealy said, he pulled the ignition switch and left the engine in gear to create a sound in the motor as though the engine were sputtering from lack of gasoline, but the bandit leaned over and saw what was happening, commanding him to turn the engine back on and to "quit playing."

Bandit Familiar With Route.

"Although the bandit kept his revolver sticking into my back," Mealy said, "I tried to disconnect the ignition wires with my foot, but was unsuccessful. He watched me closely and seemed to know the highway, directing me through several detours before we came to them. He knew Baltimore, too, for he was able to tell me the exact route to follow through the city."

Soon after passing the outskirts of Philadelphia the bus ran out of gasoline, and when it stopped the bandit jumped from the bus on the running board of a taxi that was pulling up to the curb nearby, rode in that fashion for about a block and then jumped off and disappeared in an alley.

Mealy immediately reported the incident to Philadelphia police and cruised around with a police car for some time in a vain effort to pick up a trace of his abductor. In the meantime, the holdup was reported to the Washington company, which telegraphed Mealy to get gasoline and return to Washington. He had arrived in Philadelphia about 6 o'clock and was back in Washington early yesterday afternoon. Mealy has been employed by the traction company two years.

He described the man to police as being about 30 years old, 5 feet 7 inches tall, slender and a good dresser. He said that the man had a few characteristics peculiar to drug addicts and that he kept eating some small "pills" on the whole trip to Philadelphia.

Restaurant Man Held On Charge of Woman

James K. Howar, described as the manager of a barbecue restaurant near Fourteenth and U streets northwest, was arrested yesterday on a warrant charging criminal assault and sworn out by Mrs. Goldie Salamh, the alleged victim. Howar, who is 36 and lives at 1360 Girard street northwest, was released in $3,000 bond.

Mrs. Salamh stated that the assault occurred August 9 when she and her husband and Mr. and Mrs. Howar were living at the Girard street address. The plaintiff's present address is 1344 Rhode Island avenue northwest. Her husband and Mrs. Howar were absent at the time, it was charged.

OWNERSHIP EXPOSE LIKELY TO OCCUPY GAS DIRECTORATES

'NO MYSTERY ABOUT IT,' PRESIDENT WOOD SAYS

Session Is Expected to Be Last Prior to Hearings by Utilities Board.

Following closely on disclosures by William A. Roberts, special assistant corporation counsel, establishing the fact that the Central Public Service Corporation controls the local gas companies, a meeting of the directors of the Washington Gas Light Co. and the Georgetown Gas Light Co. has been called for this morning.

George A. G. Wood, president of the Washington Gas Light Co., when questioned, admitted there was a meeting scheduled, but stated that it is the usual monthly session and added that "there is no mystery about it."

Whether or not A. E. Pierce, president of the Central Public Service Corporation, who was recently elected a director of the Georgetown company, will be present at the meeting has not been made known. Mr. Wood said that he did not know.

It is expected the recent sensational developments in the Public Utilities Commission investigation of the gas companies' ownership will occupy much of the directors' attention.

The meeting probably will be the last session prior to the two hearings scheduled by the utilities body. An inquiry into gas pressure and related topics has been set for September 14, and an ownership probe has been docketed for September 21.

Shortly after the hearing, Corporation Counsel William W. Bride, counsel for the commission, intends to file suit against the Central Public Service Corporation for violation of the LaFollette antimerger law.

Justice Letts Imposes First Sentence Here

Although he has been on the bench of the District Supreme Court for several months, Justice F. Dickinson Letts yesterday imposed his first sentence in a criminal case. He gave Ralph J. Richards, colored, three years on each of two indictments, charging, in the first, housebreaking and larceny, and in the second, grand larceny. The sentences were allowed to run concurrently.

Justice Letts sat on the Superior Court bench of Iowa for years, and criminal work is not new to him.

T Shop Trio Facing Conspiracy Charge

Man and Woman Said to Admit Discussing Plan to Hold Up Place.

Under instructions from United States District Attorney Leo A. Rover's office, the two men and one woman held in connection with the slaying of Mrs. Lizzie Jaynes during the holdup April 3 of the Garden T Shoppe will be taken into Police Court within the next few days, where a charge of "conspiring to rob" is expected to be pressed against them.

The evidence gathered so far by police is still being studied by the District Attorney's office and pending this survey nothing has been decided as to the lodging of more serious charges.

Those held are Mrs. Emma Dodsworth, Thomas Jordan and Ralph E. Aikin. District letter carrier, who have been repeatedly grilled by members of the headquarters homicide squad. Jordan and Mrs. Dodsworth are said to have freely admitted discussing the "lay-out" of the Garden T Shoppe in connection with a proposed holdup, but they assert the scheme went no further.

None Found to Sign Lone Raider Plaint

Inquirers Fail to Locate Persons at Alleged Gaming House.

Although Inspector Shelby, executive officer of the Police Department, has ordered a report from Capt. W. E. Holmes, of the First Precinct, with reference to a warrantless "one man" raid staged by Private Spottswood F. Gravely, of that precinct, on an alleged gambling establishment at 1230 H street northwest, no formal complaint is expected against the policeman because no one can be located at the H street address to lodge the protest.

Police investigators went to the house yesterday where Gravely was alleged to have made the lone sally Tuesday, smashing furnishings and paraphernalia with an ax. Inquirers found the place locked and could obtain no response to repeated knocking.

Meanwhile, Capt. Holmes is said to have obtained a report of the incident from Private Gravely and is engaged in preparing a summary. Several days ago he delivered a "pep" talk to his command on suppression of gambling activity in the precinct.

Police Court Handles Five on Liquor Charges

The Police Court liquor docket was further cleared yesterday when Assistant United States Attorney Wilbur Baughman disposed of five cases. Two persons pleaded guilty, two were convicted by juries, and a fifth was sent to the grand jury for action on a transportation charge.

Charged with transporting 118 half-gallon of liquor, Allen Stanton, colored, was held for the grand jury. Bertha Williams and Hayward Kelly, pleaded guilty to a charge of possession of a small amount, and will be sentenced tomorrow. Thomas L. Glascock and John L. Abendschein, were convicted by a jury of possession and sale. They will be sentened tomorrow also.

Fish Scared Off, Man Saves Woman and Calls It a Day

Only a few weeks ago the carp and catfish were biting as if they had just come off a hunger strike. The 70-year-old fisherman saw Harry Ager, 10 years old, of 1031 Thirty-first street northwest, hopping spritely over the lock.

He turned his head a second and the boy disappeared. Seeing what had happened, he hurried to the top of the lock. Harry's head appeared above the water and the fisherman grabbed him by the hair and yanked him to safety. Although Harry's plunge drove the fish away, the old fisherman didn't mind.

Then last night he saw a colored woman standing near the lock throwing her coat to the ground. The fisherman grappled with her and prevented her, not without a struggle, from jumping into the canal. Another man had stopped her from jumping into the canal, 100 feet away, a few minutes before.

Hundreds invaded his haunt as sirens of ambulances and police cars split the air. The woman, Louise Dixon, 36 years old, of Falls Church, Va., was arrested and charged with drunkenness.

The old man sat on the steps at 3067 Canal street, near the lock, and using the fisherman's prerogative of exaggeration, told of the two big carp he had landed yesterday. He quit fishing after the struggle, saying: "The crowds scared the fish away."

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

THE DUCK FEATHER CRISIS.

NOW it's a Duck Feather crisis! Just as many people have suspected right along, one of the things the matter with the United States is that it is too full of duck feathers.

• • • •

There had been some hopes that the true facts about the duck feather situation would never come out to depress the general public, but these hopes were shattered the other day when the State Department at Washington admitted it had been appealed to by leaders of the duck feather industry.

• • • •

The appeal to the State Department, which came from Long Island feather magnates, asked for Federal relief and suggested that possibly Uncle Sam would arrange to have Germany absorb some of our American feathers, as she has agreed to do with wheat.

• • • •

Germany will be sounded out on the matter at once, it is understood. Just what her needs are in the matter of duck feathers is not definitely known, but it seems possible that there is nothing she needs less in her present predicament.

• • • •

Taking everything into consideration, it looks as if the American Duck Feather Industry would have to find a way out at home. T. Esterhazy Wonk, one of the world's foremost feather experts, when interviewed today, suggested that the first thing to do was to impress upon the man in the street the fact that there is a feather crisis.

• • • •

"WE must immediately get across the message that the trouble with the country today is that it is too full of duck feathers," said Mr. Wonk, thumping his desk. "What does the average man know about the feather situation? Nothing. Therefore, how can we expect him to be concerned?"

• • • •

Getting no answer, Mr. Wonk continued: "Of course, it might be a good idea to request Mr. Hoover to appoint a Federal Feather Board at once, but I doubt that the feather men would react to that. The board would probably suggest that the feather magnates destroy every third feather of the 1931 crop, and this would involve an immense amount of detail.

• • • •

"No," continued Mr. Wonk, "I think we must adopt other tactics. First arouse the average man to the true facts about the surplus and then appeal to every man, woman and child to go out and buy a duck feather.

• • • •

"A National Duck Feather Day might do the trick. Or we might use feathers instead of carnations for the next Mother's Day. Still again, some relief might be gained by having the President proclaim it every citizen's duty to wear a duck feather vest."

• • • •

At this point Mr. Wonk was interrupted and saddened by a telegram, which he opened and read, tearfully.

"Huh! There's a crisis in another feather industry," he blurted.

"Ah, at last your voice, my dear!
On the phone you seem so near."
"Sure, I'm lonesome, darling mine

"Don't know when I'll get away • • •
Hope to almost any day • • •"
"What? • • • Of course I'm missing you • • •"
"Yes, I'll signal when I'm through."

"City's dead as dead can be • • • Working hard, hon, honestly • • •"
"Call you soon • • • Good-by."
How late
Am I for that heavy date?
